

Smallwood Defends Suspect in Fraud

EDMONTON, Alta. (UPI) — Newfoundland Premier Joseph Smallwood last night vigorously defended the president of Canadian Javelin Ltd., John C. Doyle, charged with defrauding stockholders of $4,800,000. (See Page 14.)

"I suspect it is still another attempt to seize control of the great assets of Canadian Javelin by getting rid of the man who built up the company," the Liberal Premier said in an Edmonton address.

Red Missile Off, Says U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—High United States military authorities said Wednesday night a Soviet missile had been fired into the central Pacific but it apparently missed its target by several hundred miles.

Retiring

Retiring in May is Gen. Charles Foulkes, 57, chairman of Canada's chiefs-of-staff committee for almost nine years. Announcement was made yesterday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker. See story, Page 3.

The base for the launching of the missile was believed to be in the vicinity of the Caspian Sea, near the southernmost boundary of the Soviet Union with Iran.

There was no further word on details of the firing. U.S. authorities, however, appeared satisfied the shot had been made and had deviated from its target by at least several hundred miles.

An official release from the defence department late Wednesday said only that Russia may have fired a huge test rocket across Eurasia and into the central Pacific—a distance of perhaps 8,000 miles.

Plane Burns, 38 Perish

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI)—A Colombian Avianca Airlines plane with 45 persons aboard crashed and burst into flames today as it came in for a landing. First reports said 38 persons were killed and seven survived.

The plane was en route from Miami when it swerved and crashed within sight of the airport. A crowd waiting at the airport saw a blinding crash and heard the screams of the survivors at the plane disintegrated.

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro ordered Spanish ambassador Juan Pablo Lojendio to leave Cuba within 24 hours when the ambassador disrupted Castro's marathon television speech early today, creating pandemonium in the TV studio.

Lojendio took offence at remarks Castro made about Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco, mounted the platform where Castro was speaking and demanded a chance to reply over the microphone to the charges.

Castro objected that the ambassador had no right to interrupt his speech which was devoted chiefly to an attack on the United States. He said no ambassador had the right to address a prime minister of Cuba in that manner.

Police, bodyguards, TV panelists and studio officials closed in on the Spanish envoy. The studio audience burst into shouts and screams and the television screens blacked out although sound of the frays was broadcast over the airwaves.

The incident started at 12.38 a.m. and Castro was back on the air by 1.45 a.m. The Cuban flag in the background was disarranged, indicating some sort of scuffle.

Key Figure in Crash Mystery Caught

Schultz Case Manslaughter

VANCOUVER (CP) — Raymond Schultz, 32, was found guilty of manslaughter Wednesday in the shooting death of his wife Lois and was remanded for sentence.

The assize court jury returned its verdict after 5½ hours deliberation. Last month a jury failed to agree and a new trial was ordered.

VERMILLION, S.D. (AP) — A "Dick Tracy" type television-telephone wrist watch and direct dialing to any place in the United States for 25 cents are among the goals of a major telephone company.

R. A. Franzer, staff supervisor of the Bell system's South Dakota plant in Sioux Falls, told the academic year science institute at the University of South Dakota these are prime goals of researchers.

Franzer said the television-telephone watch would be the "very ultimate" device. It would be given to each child at birth and would stay with him through life.

Sevigny Corrects Remarks

OTTAWA (UPI) — Associate Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny said yesterday the size of Canada's defence budget was not determined by mutual consent at the council table of NATO.

Sevigny, who was brought into the cabinet six months ago, was commenting on answers he had given on a nationally televised press conference last night.

He conceded that at first he had left the impression the $1,700,000,000 defence budget was determined by NATO.

Ex-Convict Naturopath Tracked Down in Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Dr. Robert Spears, whose name was on the passenger list of an airliner that crashed in the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 16, was found in a Phoenix motel yesterday after a cross-country drive in the car owned by the man who is believed to have died in his place.

FBI agents tracked down the pudgy 64-year-old ex-convict and alleged abortionist, who had taken out heavy life insurance in his young wife's name before the ill-fated National Airlines DC-7 took off from Tampa for New Orleans. All 42 persons aboard died.

After questioning Spears, the FBI arrested him on a technical charge of transporting the car belonging to William Allen Taylor, missing 58-year-old Tampa salesman.

WAIVED HEARING

He was arraigned late yesterday afternoon before U.S. Commissioner Carrie B. Wilson in a 10-minute proceeding. He waived preliminary hearing and his bail was set at $35,000.

"I doubt if I could post the bail if you knocked $30,000 off it," the white-haired, bespectacled Spears, a naturopath, said.

He admitted the car was stolen and that he had driven it from Dallas without permission. But when he was asked by U.S. Attorney Jack D. Hays if he had ever been convicted of a felony, he said:

"I don't think I want to answer that. I have waived this hearing and I don't want to discuss anything like that."

LIGHT TAN COAT

Handcuffed and attired in a light tan overcoat, the heavily built Spears appeared nervous when brought before the commissioner. And when he was led off to jail he tried to hide his face from photographers with a cap.

Taylor's estranged wife had raised the possibility that Spears hypnotized Taylor into taking his place on the plane.

NEARLY FAINTED

In Dallas, Mrs. Spears nearly fainted when informed her husband was alive.

"I'm numb," she said. "I don't know what to say."

The FBI told an official Civil Aeronautics Board hearing into the crash last Saturday that Spears might have had someone travel for him to collect a $100,000 special flight insurance policy.

Spears was listed as George Rhodes at the motel where he was seized. He has a criminal record extending back 43 years.

MORE FANTASTIC

The already fantastic developments in the investigation of the plane crash became more fantastic with the arrest of Spears. On Monday, he was linked with the key mystery man in another National Airlines crash, and FBI agents hoped to determine what their relationship was.

Donald Loomis, 50, co-defendant with Spears on an abortion charge in Los Angeles, told authorities there that Spears' attorney was Julian Andrew Frank, 32-year-old lawyer who died in the crash of a National Airlines DC-6B Jan. 6, in which 33 other persons also were killed.

Death Penalty Hit Two Ways

OTTAWA (CP)—A two-pronged attack against capital punishment is being made at the new session of Parliament.

Senator David Croll (L. Ontario) introduced a bill in the Senate Wednesday to abolish the death penalty except in some cases of treason. An identical bill was proposed in the Commons Monday by Frank McGee (PC, York-Scarborough).

"Either they (the Commons) do it or we do it," Senator Croll said.

Senator Croll said he plans to let his bill stand on the order paper until the Commons disposes of Mr. McGee's bill. If the Commons voted to abolish capital punishment, he would withdraw his bill.

Both the Liberal and CCF parties favor a free Commons vote on Mr. McGee's measure, with members voting from conscience and not along party lines. There has been speculation the government may permit the bill to come to a vote, but Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the House Monday no consideration has been given as yet to that question.

Private members' bills normally have little chance of coming to a vote unless the government wants one.

Since the Progressive Conservatives were elected in June, 1957, the cabinet has allowed only seven hangings. Of 38 death sentences, 31 have been commuted to life imprisonment.

Reds Warned Before Suez Eden Says

LONDON (CP)—Sir Anthony Eden Wednesday disclosed that before the 1956 Suez crisis he personally warned the rulers of Soviet Russia that Britain would fight to defend her Middle East oil interests. Behind the Teenage Curtain

Smut Ring Photographers Operating in Victoria

This is the first of a series of articles on the mounting problem of juvenile delinquency in Greater Victoria. The articles will be frank discussions of the problems, including working mothers, junior high schools, teenage sex, young drivers and delinquent parents.

Police in Greater Victoria are investigating a syndicate

which is persuading teenage girls to pose in the nude and is then distributing the pictures to the smut market of the United States.

High school and college girls ranging in age from 14

to 19 are involved. Some are daughters of well-known Victoria families.

It is understood well-proportioned girls of tender age are persuaded to pose in the nude, with the idea the pictures will be shipped to remote parts of the United States and the girls will receive a royalty on the pictures sold.

Some of the pictures, it is reliably reported, are indecent. The girls, most of them in Grades 11 and 12 at city high schools and in Victoria University, are virtually selling their decency.

Police expect to make arrests soon, but the full story may never get in the newspapers because it involves juveniles and they are protected from publicity by law.

But it is a story that every parent should know about. How else are they to be warned to protect their children?

Saanich Police Chief Bert Pearson reports that from time to time there is quite a wave in the Greater Victoria area of young girls posing in the nude.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Taking an opinion survey is a tricky business. Professional statisticians and pollsters go about it with elaborate care, but even they are sometimes wrong.

Their job is to make the views of a handful of people reflect what thousands or millions are thinking.

To do this, they must choose a balanced sample of people, a group that contains someone to represent every segment of the populace by age, occupation and by other standards, in the right proportion. Each person whose views are canvassed must stand for hundreds or thousands of people. So a slight mistake is multiplied manifold.

Spectacular Blunders

Despite all the trouble the pollsters take, they sometimes fall into spectacular blunders, as the Gallup Poll did when it predicted that Thomas E. Dewey would win a United States presidential election, and a trusting magazine came out with a cover that featured President Dewey.

It was a striking cover. But Harry Truman won the election. Experts who use scientific methods are sometimes baffled by the depth, complexity and fickleness of public opinion.

But the difficulty of the job does not deter non-experts from rushing in.

Newspapers are fond of canvassing public opinion on urgent questions. They all do it. A luckless reporter is assigned to get in touch with 10 or 20 representative citizens, whose names he chooses by sticking pins in a telephone book.

Random Acquaintances

Or else the reporter calls a couple of dozen acquaintances at random. In former times he would have canvassed the views of the other people in the tavern. But newspapermen don't drink nowadays.

Delinquency Problem

Smut Ring Active Here

In fact, although many Victorians do not know it, or choose to ignore it, this area has a very real juvenile delinquency problem. And it is increasing each year.

Most teenagers are clean-living, honest, fun-loving youngsters, who are a credit to the community. But there is a growing number of boys and girls, many in their early teens, who should be training to be the leaders of tomorrow and instead are stealing automobiles, robbing the corner grocery store and snatching purses.

There are teenage sex orgies in Greater Victoria.

PARENTS CONDONE IT

More than one-quarter of the teenagers, 16 years of age and over, engage in weekend drinking parties and in a great many cases parents condone it. In fact, some parents even alibi to the courts to protect their children from prosecution.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner points out that Victoria sends more boys to the Brannan Lake juvenile industrial home per 1,000 population than any other big area in British Columbia.

MAY BE STRICTER

"It may be that Victoria has stricter law enforcement . . . It does not necessarily mean Victoria has a greater delinquency problem, although it may well be," Mr. Bonner says.

Juvenile delinquency is on the rampage.

Last year in Saanich, 329 children appeared before juvenile court. Ten years before, in 1949, there were only 20.

In 1958, there were 464 juveniles in Victoria juvenile court, compared to 259 in 1955.

The comparisons do not necessarily show juvenile delinquency has increased so much; they can indicate increased police diligence.

NO GANGS

Fortunately this area, so far, has largely escaped the wave of teenage gang-style violence which has swept larger centres. There are no big organized gangs here and there is no dope problem, although some youngsters experiment with "goof balls."

Most common offence of juvenile boys is to take a car without the owner's consent, commonly called joy-riding. Breaking and entering and theft are the other common offences.

GIRLS LET OFF

Out of the 190 Saanich cases in 1958 there were 183 boys and five girls involved. Two were adults involved in juvenile crime. Many girls are involved with the boys, but police are reluctant to charge them because boys can be rehabilitated, but once a girl is marked she is seldom again accepted by society.

Seventeen and 16 were the ages of juveniles mainly involved, but some are as young as 12.

FRANK SERIES

Because the local situation is serious, The Daily Colonist has made a survey of the juvenile delinquency picture in this area. In this series of articles it is planned to have a frank discussion of the problem and to point the way for an all-out community fight to prevent juvenile delinquency.

The articles will be frank, brutal and to some people sometimes offensive, but they will be aimed at the common objective of bringing up healthier, better-informed and more mature youngsters—the men and women who will be the leaders of tomorrow.

Teenage Wives By Dozen

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Teenage wives?

"You have to spank them once in a while," says Glynn Wolfe, "but after they're spanked they make wonderful wives."

Wolfe, a 46-year-old Hollywood hotel owner, should know. He has been married 12 times since 1932.

Each marriage has been to a teenager, he said Tuesday, "because they're happy that they don't have to work, and they don't make demands."

The break-up comes, he added, when the girls get "fidgety" and want to "run loose."

"And you can't hold anybody if they don't want to stay."

The girls, however, often return after the divorce—not with any intention of remarrying, Wolfe said, but because: "They know if they get in a jam, they can come home. I feel obligated to furnish them a place to live and eat."

Four former Wolfe wives reside in his hotel.

Art Loot Found Intact

Lawyer Mailed Keys to Police

VANCOUVER (UPI) — Police yesterday recovered $10,000 worth of paintings and religious icons stolen from the city's art gallery Jan. 10.

Deputy chief constable Gordon Ambrose said the eight old masters and 13 religious paintings were all recovered and were only slightly damaged.

Ambrose said police received keys to two lockers in the Canadian National Railways depot in the mail today from Vancouver lawyer Larry Hill. Hill is reported to have told police he, himself, received them in an envelope delivered in the mail.

UNDER ARREST?

Police said they believe they are holding the man responsible for the theft on another charge.

Detectives opened the lockers and found the stolen art for which a $1,500 reward was offered by the firm which insured the works.

The lockers contained all the treasures that were stolen, apparently by someone who hid in the gallery after it closed.

SAME TECHNIQUE

Thieves used the same technique when they stole $40,000 worth of paintings from the University of British Columbia Gallery Nov. 10. They have not been recovered.

'Pioneer' Prefers Home

SEATTLE (AP) — You think covered wagon pioneers were the only ones who had it tough crossing the country? Listen, then, to the experiences of Irvin Compton, 39, of Seattle, on a 12-day business trip.

Compton flew his light plane to Fargo, N.D., left it there and hopped a commercial airliner to the east and back. The airline lost his baggage.

Then he took his own plane to Winnipeg, slipped on ice in an automobile parking lot there and broke a leg.

Next day, broken leg in cast, he flew to Grand Forks, N.D., and got in a wrangle with customs authorities over his sample case of electronic instruments.

Settling that, Compton took off for Seattle but a Grand Forks Airport attendant forgot to fill the tank. The plane ran out of gas over Montana.

It was dark, and Compton almost landed on railway tracks, finally putting down safely on U.S. Highway 10, A Montana state patrolman helped him get the plane off the highways and refueled.

Compton got back home Tuesday night. He'll stay there, too, he says.

Defence Costs Face Probe; Armed Forces' Chief to Quit

OTTAWA — A select Commons committee will study defence policy and expenditures this session.

In making his announcement in the Commons Wednesday, Prime Minister Diefenbaker emphasized the committee will not usurp government authority for making defence policy.

Ottawa Roundup

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson for some time has been advocating establishment of a Commons committee or royal commission on defence.

There hasn't been a rousing committee airing of defence spending since the "horse on the payroll" probe in 1953.

Gen. Charles Foulkes, 57, chairman of the chiefs of staff committee since Feb. 1, 1951, will retire in May after 35 years' military service.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced the government has "reluctantly accepted" Gen. Foulkes' request to retire.

Successor likely will be either Air Marshal Hugh Campbell, chief of air staff, or Vice-Admiral Harry DeWolf, chief of naval staff.

Gen. Foulkes, Canada's first peacetime general and youngest chief of staff in history, exerted a strong behind-the-scenes influence on defence policy. For example, he recommended cancellation of the Arrow jet program last year.

Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, keyed the traditional no-confidence motion to Russia's economic challenge.

He said nothing is being done in the face of this challenge to make up a tremendous lag in production, or to stop wasting resources, both human and material.

He opposed nationalization of existing enterprises but added that there is room for expanding public ownership in an expanding economy.

Mr. Argue urged a $75 old

Push-Button Store Coming

NEW YORK (AP) — What will shopping be like in the electronic supermarket of the future?

A preview was offered at the food exposition and country fair in the New York Coliseum when the Ditch-Shopwell supermarket chain unveiled a scale model.

This, said designer Prof. William Breger of Pratt Institute, is what the shopping housewife will experience: She drives her car into the parking lot and steps onto a moving sidewalk that takes her into the store. She can deposit her dog at a pet bar, her children in a nursery.

An elevator takes her to the top of the circular building. There she receives a marker bearing a code number. Transported by a moving sidewalk, she is carried past displays of food.

At any moment she can step off the sidewalk and choose an item. After marking the item with her marker, she deposits it in a receiving station and moves on.

At several key areas, the shopper can choose among "menus of the day." She presses one button for the chosen dish and a second for the number of people she intends to serve. The various ingredients are automatically selected for her.

Upon completing her purchases, the shopper inserts her marker in an automatic checkout station on the main floor. Every item she has picked out is spread before her. She pays her money into an automated cash receiver which returns change and a receipted list.

Back in her car, she drives to a parcel-pickup area. When she presents her receipted bill, she receives a completely wrapped bundle containing all of her items.

Breger said he expects these electronic supermarkets to be built in the 1960s.

The Negro spiritual leader's body arrived at his "House of Prayer for all People" here in a procession led by 150 women in flowing black and purple robes.

Amending the BNA Act

TECHNICALLY Canada must go to the British Parliament if it wishes to amend its constitution—the BNA Act—but this is a matter of form. No Westminster House of Commons would do other than pass such a request as a matter of routine; London has long ceased to have any legislative jurisdiction over Ottawa.

The disability of Canada to amend the BNA Act without reference to Westminster was in fact lessened in 1949 when formal power to do so in federal matters was passed by the British Parliament, and in 1952 the Ottawa House did of itself effect such an amendment relating to the alteration of electoral constituencies. There is existing doubt however as to the constitutional means of amendment where the interests of the provinces are concerned.

This comes about because of the separate powers allotted to the provinces concerning such matters as taxation, public works, education, etc., which were inherent in the agreements of confederation. It was to this that Prime Minister Diefenbaker had reference when he said in Parliament this week that some formula should be found to obviate any necessity for enabling legislation at Westminster at all.

There will be general agreement on this point. Complete autonomy should be visible as well as actual, and it is not in keeping with the Canadian national status that any BNA Act provision should prevent Canada altering its constitution in any respect. It is the formula that may be difficult to achieve however. The provinces are rightfully jealous of the prerogatives which confederation granted them, and would view with dubiety any tendency towards too much power being vested in the federal authority.

This is the problem to be overcome and it will not be easy; federal and provincial administrations do not often see eye to eye on any subject, and where any adjustment of powers might be involved or seem to be involved, it will take a deal of persuasion to reconcile conflicting points of view. The attempt to find a formula should nevertheless be pursued by consultation between the federal and provincial governments, and it should not be beyond legal wit to safeguard provincial rights while removing any bars to constitutional amendment. Canada should be master of its own legislative procedures.

How To Drive Trade Away

ONCE again a proposal that parking meters remain in operation until 9 p.m. on Friday is about to go before the city council. If it is adopted the council is liable to discover before long that it has antagonized shoppers rather than pleased them, and that regulation of parking acts as one more spur to drive them away to other shopping centres.

Much of the Friday night shopping is for food and household necessities of the kind obtainable at numerous markets in the suburbs. Those who shop by car are not bound to come into the city; and if they find too many annoyances put in their way they won't come near the place. Large stores with their own parking facilities might not be affected, but the others are bound to be hurt. Meters as much as any other factor influenced the development of outlying centres.

The fact that meters are intended primarily to provide the maximum turnover of curbside spaces is largely irrelevant in this instance. Parking spaces in the centre of the city are as scarce as hens' teeth up to 9 o'clock every night of the week even now, so what good would it do to put the meters to work, apart from gouging nickels out of motorists' pockets for parking they can get free not far out of town?

Moreover, shopping is not the only downtown activity on Friday nights. The places of amusement and the people who patronize them are entitled to as much attention as the stores now invading what used to be exclusively "their time." If the meters continued to tick until 9 p.m., nobody going to a show, a meeting or anything else before 8 o'clock could park in a metered space without the risk of getting at least one ticket and maybe two. Why should all these people be inconvenienced because of a mistaken notion that things would be made better for the stores?

Finally, as to the mechanics of the idea: to keep the meters going for an extra three hours would mean hiring a lot more commissioners. Revenues from the meters might cover that, but if they were to be checked properly and fairly to prevent motorists from circumventing the whole purpose by feeding the meters every hour, it would be necessary to have motorcycle police officers on duty as well. What has the police commission to say to that?

Eventual Necessity

OTHER than in its timing, the suggestion of Mr. D. M. W. Hummel, a Victoria barrister, that the City separate its solicitorship and police court work as in the past has much to commend it. The circumstances at present, however, would seem to militate against any precipitate change now. Victoria has seldom if ever been more fortunate in the character and quality of legal advice it is being given on a contract basis, including the work of both branches. The four municipalities have not amalgamated and at present appear to have no inclination to take that step. Had this come about, Mr. Hummel's proposal would have dealt with an urgent necessity.

The City Police Commission referred the suggestion yesterday to the local Bar association for an opinion, without committing itself on the matter. It was brought out during discussion that there is no complaint with the present services given to the City, but that on factual grounds the duties of a prosecutor will multiply as population and other pressures grow; while the work of advising the City on other and civil matters likewise will increase. From a police standpoint, no doubt, a separation of the two functions would be welcome; and there is little doubt that as time goes on this may become essential. Meanwhile, Victoria is receiving excellent service on its legal contract, and has said so repeatedly in council and other discussions.

Divisions Split Cabinet

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, who started his seven-year term with the support of most political parties, soon may find himself with only avowed Gaullists in his government.

In one year there have been six changes in the cabinet. He has lost the backing of two of the most influential politicians in France today—Conservative ex-premier Antoine Pinay and Socialist ex-premier Guy Mollet.

Mollet, who served de Gaulle as vice-premier when the general was premier before becoming chief of state, has led his socialists to open opposition.

Recently Mollet criticized de Gaulle's go-it-alone attitude toward NATO military integration. Further, he was bitterly offended by the way the government rammed through a bill to subsidize Roman Catholic schools in the face of socialist and other opposition.

Pinay says he is retiring from political life after being kicked out as finance minister.

Most members of Pinay's Independent party are believed to be ready to quit the Congress in March. In that case, they would form a new rightist opposition to what Pinay considers is a leftward swing in the government.

The Christian Democrats are becoming increasingly unhappy at the prospect of finding themselves alone in uneasy tete-a-tete with only Gaullists and non-party technicians in the cabinet. Some observers think it only a matter of time before they pull out too.

There has been no radical-socialist in the government since Jean Berthoin quit the interior post last May for reasons of health.

The departure of all these could strip de Gaulle to a bare majority of staunch Gaullists in the 552-man assembly. This would seriously hurt his prestige even though he would retain control in the assembly.

Meanwhile the last crisis, climaxed with Pinay's departure, has left the country puzzled. De Gaulle dropped his expert financial pilot when Pinay's policy was proving a success in getting France back on her feet economically. Letters pouring in to deputies and senators express utter bewilderment and some sharp criticism.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IT happens that I was in Egypt a few times in the course of a certain few years, which by the rote of some folks should make me an expert on that country. In fact it does not. Except that I can summon some personal recollection all I know about Egypt is what we may read in books or newspapers.

I saw a picture of the Aswan Dam the other evening, however, and it did have connotations. There is current big news about this dam but its familiarity is a long one to me. I daresay the name was embedded in my mind when as a teen-ager—unaware then that I belonged to a distinctive segment of society—I first saw the Nile.

Perhaps I thought of Moses and the bullrushes. I don't remember; most likely I recalled the joke about the bishop. I am not very good at remembering funny stories, unfortunately, but this one has lingered over the years. Probably you have heard it but that's no reason why I shouldn't repeat it. Most jokes are stale ones anyway.

The bishop was playing golf and each time he missed the ball or hit it into a bunker he belied his gaiters and astonished his playing companion by exclaiming "Aswan Dam! Aswan Dam!"

It was no wonder that curiosity got the better of his companion, who at length asked what this exclamation meant; whereupon the bishop, restored to cherub-like good humor by making a nice putt, told him that Aswan was "the biggest dam(n) in the world."

Long since that distinction has gone by the board but a new phase of the Aswan has begun, as we have all become aware. The present low dam is being transformed into a high dam which will impound much more water, multiply the power resources and, more important, greatly increase the arable land acreage. The Nile is Egypt's life-blood, and a new surge will course through Egyptian veins as large areas of arid soil become fruitful. "Aswan good" is on the lips of the fellahs these days.

To be candid, the fate of the fellahs left me unmoved when in those far-off days I looked on casually as patient oxen turned the water-wheel or the master of the household rode the donkey with his wife walking behind, a load on her head. I belonged to a superior race and was there only on business. Time, happily, has altered my perspective. The Egyptian peasant may not have missed that he never had, but it seems that inevitably the long days of his poverty and servitude are coming to an end. Brighter things are in store, and the symbol is the Aswan Dam.

The pity is that the high dam is being built under Soviet aegis and not by grace of the West. Nasser is proving more durable than had been calculated and the West has not been as astute as it thought it was. The withdrawal of the West's offer to finance the new Aswan Dam, in fact, precipitated the present situation; the West being on the outside looking on when it might have been the agency to give this new life to Egypt. Methinks sometimes the West helps to bring on its troubles.

Reports from Ottawa

THE government's move to amend the Old Age Security Act seems likely to spark facetious remarks by opposition MPs that the Tories are preparing for their retirement after the next election.

The amendment, forecast in the Throne Speech last week, will abolish foreign residence as a bar to entitlement to old age pensions. In future oldsters of 70 and up will not have to remain in Canada to collect their $35 a month.

But so far as the Liberals are concerned, this bill should produce no more levity than a brief, passing jest aimed at their opponents across the Commons' floor. It's no witticism for the Grits to take to the hustings. For it is much to the Conservatives' credit that they are now ending this inequity in the old age security law they inherited from the Liberals.

It is now 33 years since the MacKenzie King government launched the first old age pension plan. Over the years it has been improved many times, especially by abolition of the means test, and increases in the amount of the pension.

So long as eligibility was based on a means test, it was understandable that foreign residence should be a bar to pension eligibility. For one thing, it would be practically impossible to verify the means test eligibility of a claimant living abroad. For another, in the means test days the pension was in a real sense the alternative to the poor house. It seemed scarcely fitting that the country should support its near-indigent in Florida or California.

But the St. Laurent government abolished the means test in 1951, making the pension payable to all Canadians at 70 as a matter of right. Since then there has been decreasing reason that foreign residence should be a bar to eligibility. Each year of paying taxes to finance universal old age pensions has given every taxpayer a stronger claim that he should be permitted to take his pension abroad with him. The government has now decided that this claim should no longer be denied.

The idea that abolition of the foreign residence bar would result in a mass exodus of our elder citizens to Florida and California is as nonsensical as the idea that most western wheat farmers drive to California in their Cadillacs to spend the winter.

If some oldsters are enabled by the new legislation to spend their declining years in sunny climes—well, God bless 'em. They deserve it after 70 winters of 30 below. There are still places in the sun where a couple can live well on $100 a month—Mexico, for example, and Spain. But a $35 pension isn't likely to enable many to move to high cost sunspots like Florida and California. Our oldsters who go there would go anyway—and if denied their tax-paid-for pension, they might understandably nurse a grievance against the country they left behind.

However, the great hardship that the change in the law will correct and abolish is one suffered by an unknown but undoubtedly substantial number of elderly persons who would be better off if they moved to the States to live with sons and daughters resident there. They would be better cared for, and happier. But for them to go has meant, in the case of a couple over 70, the sacrifice of $1,320 a year. Not many can afford that.

The Packsack

Breathing Its Air

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE thing the new Canadians can do, and are doing, for us old Canadians is to teach us what we have all but forgotten, the pleasures of walking in the open air, especially in our parks and also in the open country handy to our cities and towns.

It was a policeman who first brought this to my attention more than a year ago. He had spent some years on a motorcycle, part of his route being through a large wooded city park. Two years ago, he happened to drive on a Sunday through the park he formerly had patrolled, and he was astonished at the number of people he found enjoying it. He got out and wandered among them. They were almost all newcomers, Poles, Germans, Scandinavians, Dutch.

Not long after, he moved his home out to a fairly distant city suburb; and the first thing that caught his attention was the number of people he noticed, on Saturdays and Sundays, wandering about the open country and not yet effed roads beyond the suburb. He investigated. They were newcomers, just happily wandering in the open air.

"You see," I explained to the policeman, "they haven't got cars yet."

"That," he said, "is the heck of it. They have cars. They park them, and then go walking. You can tell an old Canadian's car because the family is playing right around it. But a deserted car, in a park or in the country, belongs to newcomers who have gone for a lovely long ramble. I have proved it dozens and dozens of times."

To get to love a new land, I suppose, you must wander in it, and breathe its air.

From the UN

Traffic in Narcotics

By PETER COUROPOULOS

DESPITE the effective supervision of international production and trade of narcotic drugs, as reported recently by the Permanent Central Opium Board to the Economic and Social Council, the illicit traffic persists in all parts of the world.

The board is an agency created in 1925, to which governments submit statistics of production of opium and coca leaves, manufacture, consumption and stocks of narcotic drugs. They also present reports to it on the import and export of such drugs.

Ten years ago, the then Secretary General of the UN Trygve Lie said about the board's work:

"This control, functioning now under the auspices of the United Nations and expanding rapidly to the field of newly discovered synthetic drugs, ensures the limitation of their manufacture, trade and consumption to legitimate needs only."

But it has become apparent now that the existing inspection and supervision did not affect greatly the use of narcotic drugs for illegal non-medical purposes. This is particularly so in the case of morphine and heroin which are easy to smuggle in countries where there is a great demand for these drugs, such as the United States and Canada.

Progress was made only in preventing narcotic drugs from leaking out of the legal market into the illicit traffic. This is, of course, an important accomplishment since, as a consequence, the non-medical production and traffic is restricted to the banned trade. But, clandestinely, production and smuggling flourish throughout the world.

In order to be exported from a country, any shipment of narcotics has to be issued a government authorization, a copy of which is immediately sent to the board in Geneva. The importing country has to issue again an import certificate, a copy of which reaches also the board. Thus the Opium Board can determine whether there is any leak of drugs into the illicit market from the time they are exported until they reach their destination.

During 1958, which is the period covered by the report released on January 15, 1960, the board requested governments to make enquiries in 164 cases in which it had noted discrepancies between returns by exporting countries and those by importing countries. With a few exceptions, those discrepancies which have so far been reconciled or explained have disclosed no appreciable leaks into the illicit traffic. They derived rather from errors in the figures supplied or from delays in reporting imports.

Furthermore, annual estimates of the medical requirements of narcotics for every country are made and if a country exceeds its estimated import quota, the board may recommend an embargo of drug exports to that country in order to prevent it from becoming a centre of illicit traffic.

Thus, the board supervises only the movement of those narcotic drugs that were declared to governments. Undeclared crops or exports of opium-poppo, coca leaves or cannabis, which are the main vegetables used to prepare the drugs, elude entirely the board's supervision.

For example, the substantial illegal traffic in opium, morphine and diacetylmorphine suggests that, apart from any diversions from the legal market, which in fact were comparatively small, large amounts of opium must have been either unlawfully withheld by opium-poppo growers in the countries where opium production is lawful or have been illicitly produced in those countries or elsewhere.

The problem of coca leaves is still more serious, since none of the main producers (Peru, Bolivia and Columbia) reported the quantities harvested or consumed during 1958.

According to statements made by the Bolivian authorities, the domestic trade in coca leaves between the department of La Paz and the frontier areas involves quantities out of all proportion to the needs of the Bolivian population of these areas and this trade is mainly intended to supply a traffic, which can only be described as illicit, with at least three adjacent countries. On the other hand, the government of Argentina—a consumer, not a producer-country—acknowledges the existence of constant smuggling of coca leaves from Bolivia across its entire northern border.

On the whole, the report shows that despite effective supervision of the international legal drug trade, the suppression of unlawful production and traffic in narcotics is still a long way ahead.

What is apparently needed is a more systematic hunting of illegal producers and traffickers to uncover the underground channels of the trade, a task which belongs to governments and the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL), but not to UN agencies such as the Permanent Central Opium Board.

Fares Excessive

I wish to go on record with my views on existing service and high cost to the passenger of the city bus lines.

Comparatively short routes used by the BCE make the 13-cent fare excessive. Long intervals between buses make for poor service and poor business.

Today's parking problem being what it is, many business men have told me that they would prefer themselves to leave their automobiles in their garages—but use them because of the long waits for buses and the excessive fares. Because their customers feel the same way, the service is a detriment to our local shops and stores throughout the year.

Scheduling is another problem. Now all buses seem to meet in mid-town at once. When making a transfer, it is too often true that the wanted second bus pulls away just as the bus being ridden reaches the transfer point. Result: another needless long wait. Staggered scheduling might help greatly here.

My own recommendation would be for a 10-minute bus service, a 5-cent fare, and no transfers.

I feel that the mayor and city council should get together with the BCE to get this better service. It would, I am sure, be more economical to the public, more profitable to local business, and more profitable to the BCE itself.

Let's Not Be Small

I see that free parking facilities for city hall employees have been cancelled due to criticism by nearby businessmen who claimed discrimination against taxpayers.

What is wrong in principle with the city providing its employees with parking space? Many employers nowadays provide some form of parking facilities for their employees. Provided the meter-exemption applied only to the new city parking lot on regular city hall business days I see no objection.

I do not know who the people concerned are but the complaining businessmen talk as if civic employees are not also taxpayers. They give the impression that they consider public employees either as privileged drones or inconsequential lackeys rather than working people who are assisting in carrying on their public business for them. Do these businessmen have the same attitude towards their own staff? Would they prefer to force city hall employees to pop out hourly to feed the meters, or just not drive?

Let's not be small about this. It's not good business.

W. J. WILLIAMS.

Cheap Power

In the increasingly competitive markets of the world, manufacturing costs and quality will determine our future as an exporting province. Ample and cheap electrical power is an absolute necessity to the economic well-being of British Columbia.

Too little has been explained or explored regarding the use of atomic power as a source of electricity. While Canada has the largest supply of discovered uranium in the world, Great Britain leads in peaceful uses of atomic energy. Sir Christopher Hinton, chairman of Britain's Central Electricity Generating Board, has said that electricity from nuclear stations will decrease in cost by over 50 per cent from now until 1990. Can we afford to ignore these facts at a time when electricity from hydro sources is constantly increasing in cost?

Our industrial future will be strongly influenced and the welfare of all of our citizens will be affected by the outcome of the electrical power decisions which are now under discussion. A finding should be made on that basis and must not be dictated by men whose only interest in us is a quick financial one.

J. A. A. GEORGE.

All to No Purpose

Is this efficiency or is it utter waste? Around the legislative buildings the streets are lined with cars owned by civil servants. The traffic signs say, "2-Hours Parking," so every two hours the owners of these cars have to go out to see if the traffic officer has marked the tires of their cars. If marked, the owner of the car moves the car a few feet to hide the mark; and all the cars consequently stay all day in this two-hour zone.

This situation wastes tremendous man-hours both by civil servants and police, and all to no purpose. Why not eliminate the parking signs?

Fast Co-operation Aids Sick Woman

Prompt action by a B.C. Telephone company operator and Saanich police yesterday morning took a Saanich woman to hospital for needed medical care.

About 8:45 a.m., the operator received an incoherent telephone call from a woman. She could not make out the message, but it sounded like trouble. The operator traced the call and notified Saanich police.

Two constables hurried to 2824 Wyndett, where they found that Mrs. J. F. Sutherland, 59, living alone, had taken ill during the night. She had made the telephone call after periods of violent illness and blackouts.

Police notified a son who, unable to get in touch with the family doctor right away, asked police to take his mother to hospital.

Late in the day, St. Joseph's Hospital spokesmen said Mrs. Sutherland was still very ill.

Church, Home Relegated

'Report Rebukes All Christians'

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. Hilda Neatby, professor of history at the University of Saskatchewan, said yesterday the report of the Manitoba Royal Commission on education is "a rebuke to all Christians and a challenge to the church of the future."

Miss Neatby said the commission's recommendation that religious instruction be conducted in public schools was fraught with questions for the church.

She told the Anglican Synod of Rupert's Land the report implied that both the church and the home are failing to provide children with an adequate religious or moral standard.

"The report states and accepts as inevitable that there must be in future less and less influence from the home and from the church and more and more from the school," she said.

"Such a proposition... cannot be accepted by those who in faith accept the church as the divine institution and the home as its divinely appointed auxiliary," she said.

The task of carrying out this instruction might have to be entrusted to teachers who were "poorly instructed, or secular-minded, or both," she said.

Two other solutions presented themselves to the problem of religious education, she said.

One was a Sunday school for parents—especially parents of young children—and the second was that the church should act as the church so its influence on society generally would grow.

Sooke Boy's Death Ruled 'Accidental'

Fatal accident Sunday involving 12-year-old Terry Lee Brotherton of East Sooke was ruled accidental death by drowning at an inquiry held by deputy coroner Dr. J. H. Moore.

The boy succumbed to the cold waters of Sooke Harbor after a tiny punt on which he was caring for crab traps tipped, plunging him into the sea.

Suez Invasion 'Lesser Evil'

NEW YORK (CP)—Sir Anthony Eden bitterly suggested Wednesday that the Eisenhower administration played politics in the 1956 Suez crisis and shirked U.S. responsibilities in the Middle East.

He charged Washington "strung along" its allies to stage off a showdown with Egyptian President Nasser at a time Eisenhower was up for re-election.

"We had been strung along over many months of negotiations from pretext to pretext, from device to device, and from contrivance to contrivance," said Eden.

The U.S. sought to "gain time, coast along difficulties as they arose, improvise policies, each following on the failure of its immediate predecessor."

MAJOR WAR

Eden made his accusations in an instalment of his memoirs published in McCall's magazine. He said England and France were forced to act alone to prevent a major war in the Middle East after Israel struck at Egypt.

"The chief peril to us lay not in the Israeli-Egyptian conflict but in its extension by the intervention of other Arab states. The best way to halt that was by intervening ourselves."

LESSER EVIL

"Political decisions, especially when they concern the Middle East, usually involve a choice of evils. I am convinced we chose the lesser evil."

Eden blamed U.S. "cynicism" towards its allies for shaping the events. That cynicism, he wrote, "destroys true partnership" and "leaves only the choice of parting, or a master-and-vassal relationship in foreign policy."

DID NOT REALIZE

The Eisenhower administration Eden wrote, did not realize the international implications of Nasser's seizure of the canal.

The economy of western Europe was at stake and the whole Middle East was in danger of falling under Soviet domination as Nasser turned to the Communists.

"The course of the Suez Canal crisis was decided by the American attitude to it," Eden added.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

It's hard to keep a straight face when you read about the antics of our psychologists and sociologists.

Take for instance a recent report by Dr. Sydney L. Belt of the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., before the Chicago meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Belt had done a study of whether we'll have enough trained scientists for our future needs. How do you think he investigated this question about their "attitudes problem"? By collecting data towards science and scientists.

on the teaching of biology, physics, chemistry and math in schools? Wrong.

By surveying the personnel needs and recruiting problems of industry and government? Wrong again. What Dr. Belt did was simply this. He interviewed a bunch of ninth graders in the public schools of Cincinnati and asked them what they thought a scientist looked like. Three quarters of them answered they didn't know. A scientist may be of "any weight, height or posture."

Dr. Belt also investigated children's ideas on other matters. He asked 516 New Jersey teenagers, "Are scientists often disloyal to America?"

Again, the youngsters came through splendidly. Only 15 of the 516 said yes. The rest thought scientists were fine, upstanding citizens and could be trusted.

All of this, says Dr. Belt, "provides heartening evidence that our future supply of scientists is virtually assured."

For, of course, as long as our children don't suspect scientists of Communism and don't see them as "small and stout" and "tall and thin," they'll flock to chemistry and physics classes and gobble up all the science in sight!

Crash Victim Faker

By United Press International

MRS. ROBERT SPEARS

Dr. Robert Spears, an alleged abortionist listed as a plane crash victim but found alive in a Phoenix motel, isn't really a doctor and sometimes only pretends to be an abortionist. (See other story, Page 1.)

He used nearly a dozen different names in compiling a criminal record dating back to the First World War.

Police records in Dallas, Tex., show his date of birth to be June 26, 1894, and his place of birth, Frankfield, Mo.

He has police records in more than a dozen cities. Charges against him have included grand larceny, using the mails to defraud, illegal entry, bad checks, abortion and illegal impersonation.

Charge filed by the FBI—interstate transportation of a stolen automobile—is the latest in the pudgy, 64-year-old ex-convict's long career. A warrant filed against him in Los Angeles shortly after his arrest spelled out an old charge—abortion.

Police in Dallas tried twice to prosecute him on abortion charges. In neither case could they get the alleged victim to testify.

"Half of the abortions he performs aren't really abortions," a vice squad sergeant in Dallas said. "He takes the money of women and prescribes certain medicines, but these medicines are harmless."

In one of the two Dallas cases, Spears was fined $1,000 for conspiracy to commit a felony. In the other he was fined $50 for practicing medicine without a licence. He bills himself as a naturopath.

His file shows that he has spent years in jail.

Warrant Out For Spears

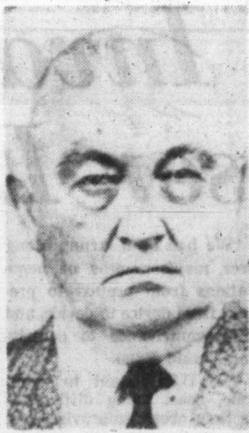

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The homicide bureau here last night disclosed it has obtained a warrant for the arrest of Dr. Robert V. Spears, reopening its case against the 64-year-old accused abortionist.

Lt. Herman Zander said the new complaint alleged two counts of abortion and one of conspiracy to commit abortion.

The warrant for Spears' arrest was signed by municipal Judge Merl O. Lippold, who set bail at $100,000.

"We want to extradite Spears from Phoenix as soon as he is available to us," Zander said.

Zander said the abortion counts involved alleged hypnosis of Spears' wife for the birth of a child.

promptu interview on the front porch of the Spears fashionable two-story brick home after scores of newsmen surrounded the house on learning that Dr. Spears, presumed to be missing in the crash of a National Airlines plane in the Gulf of Mexico, had been found by FBI agents.

Industrial Plans Architects' 'Pet'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A CNR railway trackage, wondered if official told a Royal Canadian Architectural Institute committee Wednesday that architects in the last 15 years "had not seen fit to spend much time, effort and energy" to improve residential design for neighborhood planning.

L. E. Ostrander, urban industrial development commissioner for the CNR's western region, said it seemed architects were more concerned with commercial structures, industrial plans and major downtown buildings.

Mr. Ostrander spoke during final sessions of the committee's hearings.

C. E. Pratt, Vancouver architect and committee member, asking about air rights over

Mr. Ostrander said "serious consideration was being given to this question in Winnipeg where air rights over railway yards were involved in a major thoroughfare planning."

"It can be done—in a very few years we may see it," said Mr. Ostrander. "We know it's happening in other places."

Earlier, committee member John Parkin of Toronto criticized unsightly railroad approaches into cities, suggesting railways could purchase a little extra real estate to provide a more scenic approach.

"As an individual I see it as a good thing, but I'm not sure it is a railway obligation to initiate it," said Mr. Ostrander.

Convict Witness in Murder Trial

Jail 'Spy' Talks

VANCOUVER (CP)—A convict testified in court yesterday he provided police with evidence to use against two men charged with murder.

Robert Boyle, 33, was testifying in the preliminary hearing of murder charges against Chadwick Campbell, 34, and Lloyd Storey, 26. They are charged with murdering watchman Vaino Alto in September.

Boyle is at present appealing a seven-year sentence he received in County Court in August for possessing stolen goods.

He testified he spoke to Campbell, Storey and another man in Oakalla prison and passed on certain information to Constable Al Richards of the RCMP's criminal division squad in Vancouver.

He said under cross-examination that he had never given evidence against anyone else, but he later admitted to defence counsel Angelo Branca that he had received about $500 from Constable Richards for information in other criminal cases.

Boyle said he was promised he would not be sent back to the B.C. Penitentiary after this case.

"It would be detrimental to my health after this (evidence)," he said.

Alto choked to death on the contents of his own stomach in the office of Johnson's National Storage warehouse. Thieves had unsuccessfully attempted to rob the safe in the office and had beaten the elderly man.

Hired Killer Talks

Murder 'Got to Be Done'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) Dr. fast-talking convict testified that the conversation with Finch occurred in Las Vegas, Nev., July 12 when the doctor was berating Cody for having failed to kill Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch, 33.

She was shot to death outside her suburban Los Angeles home July 18.

Cody said the session in Las Vegas was the last time he saw Finch, 42, or Miss Tre-goff, 23, until he "as brought here from a Minnesota jail to testify. He fled Las Vegas the July 16, he said, because he knew the doctor was after "really upset."

He asked me if I was sure I was going through with it. He said, "You can back out now if you want to but it's got to be done." He said he was going to do it," Cody told the court.

He said common sense told him to get out of town and he left Las Vegas July 16.

Finch's attorney Grant Cooper began cross-examination by showing Cody was serving two years on a bad cheque charge and that he had escaped from the Minneapolis work house in January, 1958.

Towed by Boat

Navy Divers To Hunt Jet

Six Esquimalt-based navy divers are due in Comox early today to begin an underwater search for wreckage of a CF-100 jet interceptor that plunged into the sea east of the Island air base.

To cover a large area during the hunt, the divers will be towed on the end of a 300-foot line, scouting the depths behind a hand-controlled planing-board.

Gem Job Cases Turn Up

NANAIMO—The first clue in the $15,000 diamond robbery at Peoples Credit Jewellers was turned up yesterday by two Nanaimo boys.

The youngsters discovered empty jewelry cases and cheques and money orders made payable to the jewelry firm on the highway a mile north of the Nanaimo River Bridge.

A suitcase which was used to carry away the loot was found at the CPR terminal.

Police have asked persons who can identify any of the following safecracking implements to call the officer in charge, Nanaimo RCMP detachment immediately:

Single-bitting axe, size 3½, stamped "Western Germany" in grease pencil; new four-pound sledgehammer stamped "Locksocket—British made," new screwdriver stamped "Mayhew—Pressure Grip 1510-10," new 10-inch screwdriver stamped Stanley—20—Genuine Hurwood—new three-foot gooseneck wrecking bar.

His return by acclamation followed a surprise development in which a strong contender for the top post in the 12,000-member body was declared ineligible to run.

RULING CONTESTED—Jack McKenzie, IWA delegate and first president of VLC questioned the ruling by the credentials committee that he was ineligible because he didn't attend the required number of meetings last year.

There was some debate on the technicality and finally Mr. McKenzie agreed to accept the committee's ruling.

"I'm disappointed," he told 70 delegates attending the meeting in the labor hall. "I had intended to make a democratic fight of it here this evening."

NO MOTION

The chairman offered to entertain a motion to reopen nominations for president. No motion was forthcoming, however, and a single eligible nominee whose name had already been put forward declined to accept nomination.

Three other officers returned by acclamation were: A. W. Toome, secretary-treasurer; E. T. Staley, carpenter, first vice-president, Ed Haw, IWA, second vice-president.

NINE YEARS

Mr. Barrie, delegate for explosives workers at the James Island plant, has been active in organized labor in Greater Victoria for the past nine years.

He was five years president of the old trades and labor council and following the merger succeeded Mr. McKenzie who stood down within a few months of being elected president of the newly-formed Victoria Labor Council.

Last night, Mr. Barrie said: "The year ahead will be a tough one for VLC and organized labor throughout B.C. I intend to devote all my efforts to the job in hand."

SUCCESSFUL

Ray Paine of the B.C. Government Employees Association was successful in the election for sergeant-at-arms.

Other executive members elected committee chairmen are: James Pennock, organizations; Percy Rayment, legislative; Don Douglas, employment; Mrs. Rhoda Erickson, political action; James Moffitt, credentials; Neil Hindle, public relations.

Mr. Barrie asked the 1959 chairman of the education committee, Jack McKenzie, to continue in office for the time being.

Canada's Big Problem

'Too Many Big Cities'

VANCOUVER (CP)—An Anglican bishop yesterday told a committee studying residential environment he would like to see 30 moderate-sized cities built on the vast Prairies where only six or seven now are located.

Rt. Rev. Godfrey Gower, Bishop of New Westminster, said problems facing Canadian cities are simple. "There are too many large ones."

"One million people in the metropolitan area here is harmful to the development of the country," he said. "I have a pipedream—instead of 15 large cities have 50 smaller cities."

Bishop Gower told the Royal Architectural Institute Committee he considered London, Ont., with a 200,000 population, a moderate-sized city.

Through the ages, moral rot began in the hearts of large cities and citizenship deteriorates, stated Bishop Gower. People who want to live in larger centres must submit to more control.

He told the committee he was a western TV fan because "they release something in me."

"A gang of cowboys roam into town and beat up everything—there are no cars and no traffic. You couldn't do that in downtown Vancouver. I paid a $10 fine for running through a stop sign."

Expert's Opinion:

Asian Flu Epidemic Will Spread in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Asian flu epidemic now raging in 13 states and the District of Columbia will spread to other parts of the country during the next few weeks.

That is the forecast of the U.S. public health service officials who are closely following the epidemic's progress.

They said the flu virus is so widely "seeded" across the nation that further outbreaks are inevitable.

"We look for a large number of flu cases in the next month or so," said one official. "But the incidence probably won't be as great as it was in the 1957 Asian flu epidemic."

At the peak of the 1957 epidemic, more than seven million Americans were down with the flu at one time.

No official estimate has been made of the total number of cases in the United States at the present time, but the figure is believed to be well in excess of 1,000,000.

More than 500,000 cases are reported in the Los Angeles area alone. There are major outbreaks in several other parts of California.

Texas also has been hard hit, with outbreaks centered around San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Houston, Austin and Brownsville. More than 35 per cent of the school population is on the absentee list in Brownsville.

Detroit has reported absentee rates up to 39 per cent in schools.

Sergeant 'Victim' No More

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP)—Police Sergeant Edward Frawley volunteered Wednesday to be an accident victim during a police first-aid training lesson.

Fellow officers wrapped him in a blanket, strapped him to a cot, and decided to take a coffee break.

Frawley, rescued after about 15 minutes, declared: "I'll be the doctor from now on."

Chamber Directors

Set Meeting Friday

Regular directors' meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will be held Friday at 12:15 p.m. in the Empress Hotel.

Several Deaths

Storms Cut Off Scottish Villages

LONDON (AP)—Scores of villages were cut off Wednesday night by a blizzard in Scotland and northern England. It piled up snowdrifts 12 feet deep in places and caused at least four deaths.

In the wind-lashed North Sea, at least two ships met disaster. One, the small Dutch coaster Bermuda, capsized while being towed to safety. Her crew of five was lost.

The 261-ton Belgian freighter Vinotra broke in two and sank in heavy seas off Holland. Its master and his wife, the only persons on board, are missing from exposure.

In Scotland, rescue workers found 44-year-old farm worker Gordon Findlater frozen to death in a snowdrift in Earlsfield. Beside the dead man was his 15-year-old daughter, Margo, almost unconscious from exposure.

Another teen-ager, 14-year-old Elizabeth Lawson, disappeared while walking home from school at the height of the blizzard Tuesday night. Rescuers searched for her through the day.

Three more bodies were found in the snow in northeast Scotland. Postwoman Lizzie Taylor, 65, farm worker George Reid, 67, and 85-year-old Alexander Gillespie all died from exposure.

Elsewhere in Britain, transportation was a problem for thousands of stranded motorists and train passengers.

Good Showing in Judo Meet

Minor Hockey Clubs Need Major Boost

An added expense that is expected to reach $2,000 is just one reason why the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association is hoping to make "Young Canada Night" a financial success as well as a crowd-pleasing spectacle.

Nationally-observed Minor Hockey Week starts this Saturday, Monday, Feb. 1, is the date that Victoria's 365 young players will demonstrate at Memorial Arena what they have learned in early-morning practices.

Association members hope that the two-hour session involving all of the 20 minor hockey teams will help solve some of the financial worries.

The six-game program will begin at 6:45 p.m. on Feb. 1 with proceeds from the sale of 50-cent admission tickets being used to pay for equipment and travelling expenses for teams reaching playoffs.

And then, there's that $2,000. This season $8 per hour rental charges must be paid to Memorial Arena with the total bill expected to reach $2,000. Ice time was previously received without charge.

Tickets for "Young Canada Night" are now on sale at Memorial Arena and can be obtained from any player or official of the GVMHA.

A total of 15 door prizes will be given away during the program that will be attended by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs.

Lacrosse Post

Doug Fletcher, city minor sports enthusiast, has been elected a vice-president of Canadian Lacrosse Association in recent mail vote. His nomination came from eastern Canada.

Davis Cup Future Looks Dim

Eighth Loss For Japan

REGINA (CP)—The touring Japanese Olympic hockey team Wednesday night suffered its eighth loss in nine starts on its pre-Olympic tour of Western Canada, dropping a 9-3 decision to Regina Caps of the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League before a standing-room-only crowd of 4,392.

The Japanese tied 4-4 in Lethbridge Monday.

Each Japanese goal was greeted with wild ovation, while Regina goals drew almost complete silence and even boos.

The United States probably will drop its Davis Cup team and the cup itself will be withdrawn if the controversial "authorized player" rule is passed by the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

Proposed rule, introduced by France, would create a class of players permitted to take part in an unlimited number of tournaments and receive expenses.

As far as the United States association is concerned these players would be professionals and thus the U.S. would be forced to drop out of the competition and withdraw the Davis Cup it first put up.

The rule has a better-than-fair chance of being passed.

Pitcher Sam Jones of San Francisco and infielder Red Schoendienst of Milwaukee have accepted and rejected National League contracts respectively for the 1960 baseball season.

Jones, who nearly pitched the Giants to the pennant with a 21-15 mark last season, happily signed a contract calling for between $30,000 and $35,000. Schoendienst, inactive last season, refused his first contract offer.

Meanwhile, two American League stars returned contracts to their teams unsigned. Shortstop Luis Aparicio wasn't happy with a $35,000 offer from Chicago White Sox and Mike Mantle of New York Yankees said he was "cut too much" in dropping from $75,000 to a proposed $60,000.

Cougars Shut Out Flyers For Third Straight Win

By JIM TANG

Pete Goegan was a well-behaved young man last night at Memorial Arena, noticed only because atten-

It was the third straight game, all victories, in which the Victoria club had scored five goals and they were hopelessly pondering whether or not the Cougars have finally discovered the secret of putting the puck in the nets more often than has been their wont.

For the 1959 part of the Western Hockey League season the Cougars did everything well except score. In their first 35 games, the Cougars scored only 96 times and seemed well on their way to beating the record for futility of 198 goals for a full season, set by Winnipeg in 1956-57. It was the highest kind of tribute to the club's defensive play that it bounced back and forth between second and third spot. Things, however, appear to have changed. In the first nine games of the last half of the season the Cougars have four times scored five goals, twice scored six times. Their 6-2-1 record in that span has not only solidified their grip on third place but made them a strong contender for second place and who still have a good chance of challenging seriously for the lead.

Last night, Flyers would have had to be at their best to handle a Victoria club which featured three forward lines all showing plenty of punch on attack and seldom letting down on their defensive chores. But the Edmonton club wasn't skating, had nothing but trouble getting the puck out of its own zone and the final margin somewhat flattened the Flyers.

RIGGIN BUSY

Cougars opened up from the start and dominated play throughout as they fired 49 shots at a Dennis Riggins who could in no way be blamed for the five pucks he had to pick out of his time.

But it took more than 25 minutes for the Cougars to get their first goal and until the third period for them to put the points out of Flyers' reach although they often buzzed Riggins for minutes at a time.

PICKS SPOT

Gordie Fashaway, who'll probably end up with his usual 30 or more goals, finally got things started when he stick-handled in from the left side and with the Flyers playing him for a pass, picked his spot with a backhand shot.

Gordie Haworth, another who has been coming on of late in a goal-scoring way, made it 2-0 in the last minute of the second period. He regained the puck after a face-off in the Edmonton zone and his quick ice shot threaded its way past three or four pairs of skates and in between Riggins.

ONLY BID

The goal came shortly after the Cougar penalty-killers, who have allowed only eight goals this season, staved off the only serious Edmonton bid by holding Flyers off for two minutes.

But the Flyers haven't any effective penalty-killing combinations and they were victimized by a power play for the 34th and 35th times this season as Fashaway clicked for his 17th scoring shot of the season and Art Jones for his 25th.

NO MISTAKE

In between, Arnie Schmutz, who was digging all night, made no mistake on a break-away to get his 17th goal. The mighty mite also picked up three assists, one of them starting the play for the prettiest of the five goals—Fashaway's second—for a four-point effort which tied him with Jones for the club scoring lead. Both have 44 points.

Cougars devoted most of their efforts in the waning minutes between making certain Marcel Pelletier got his second shutout and trying to set up Fashaway for a hat-trick.

CATCH TOTEMS

Five points ahead of Edmonton, 13 ahead of the sixth-place Calgary Stampeders and 14 ahead of Winnipeg's Warriors, the Cougars can now forget pursuers and concentrate on catching the Totems.

They get a chance to make up ground Saturday when the Seattle club plays here.

Totems, Minus Stars Still Handle Spokane

Injuries to scoring star Guyle Fielder and veteran goalie Bev Bentley failed to discourage second-place Seattle last night as the Totems built up an early lead and coasted to a 7-5 Western Hockey League win over Spokane.

Result left Seattle five points behind league-leading Vancouver Canucks and shoved the hometown Comets deeper into last place with only 13 wins in 47 games.

A crowd of 2,000 at Spokane watched centre Rudy Filion take up the slack created by the absence of Fielder and stand-in Bruno Forlin give a steady performance in place of Bentley.

Filion scored two goals and assisted twice while Forlin turned back several hard drives and wound up with 25 saves.

Warrior plays with Rossland of the Western International Amateur League and was lent to Seattle.

Marc Boileau, Gerry Leonard, Jim Powers, Bill MacFarland and Tom McVie scored single goals for Totems who led 5-1 after the first period.

TOP TOTAL
MacFarland's goal was his 29th of the season, tops in the WHL.

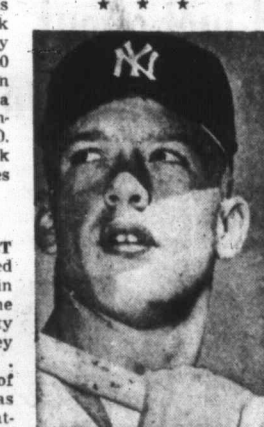

Max Meklik, Earl Johnson, Al Johnson and Del Topoli scored for Spokane who scored three goals early in the third and cut Seattle's lead to 6-5 before McVie broke away from a Comet attack to add the insurance goal.

Meanwhile, Winnipeg Warriors continued an upward climb and ran an unbeaten streak to five games by edging Calgary Stampeders 2-1 before 4,000 fans at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg now trails fifth place Calgary by a single point after winning last night with two second period goals.

Gerry Brissan and Barrie Ross scored for Winnipeg in the second and goalie Al Rollins came up with some big saves after Ron Leopold scored Calgary's only goal at 7:56 of the final period. Rollins made 32 stops.

Seattle—Goal: Forlin; defence: Hunt, Sinclair, Arnett, Davidson; forwards: Filion, McVie, Powers, Boileau, Ginnell, Goyer, Chupka, MacFarland, Leonard.

Hull Regains Scoring Lead As Hawks Defeat Bruins

CHICAGO—Bobby Hull regained the National Hockey League's individual scoring leadership with his 27th goal and an assist Wednesday night

Chicago's win moved the Hawks a point ahead of Boston as the teams continue to wage an all-out struggle for the final playoff position.

Boston, with a game in hand, can move back into fourth place tonight by beating Detroit Red Wings at Detroit.

In addition to Hull, line mate Murray Balfour and defenceman Pierre Pilote scored goals in Wednesday's win and goalie Glenn Hall also played an important role in stopping 32 shots, 15 in the second period.

Balfour put Chicago ahead with four minutes remaining in the opening period on a pretty relay from centre Bill Hay and Hull.

Hull and Pilote, on a power play, made it 3-0 before the second period was six minutes old.

Balfour was in the penalty box late in the period when Horvath fired his 29th goal of the season, tops in the NHL. Boston took over from that point but could not beat Hall who came up with several brilliant saves in the final period.

Playing without winger Eddie Litzenberger, injured in an automobile accident earlier this week that took the life of his wife, the Hawks weakened considerably in the final stages.

Veteran forward Ted Lindsay of Chicago was cut on the right cheek in the second period and 25 stitches were needed to close the wound.

First Period
1. Chicago, M. Balfour (Hay, Hull), 14:04.
Penalties—Lalime 3:12, 10:09, Hull 16:04.
Armstrong 10:34, Sesterecki 11:02.

Sunny Italy For Shilling

LONDON (AP)—A shilling gamble out of her old-age pension brought a 75-year-old great-grandmother a football dividend of £12,500 ($33,375) Tuesday. The winner, Mrs. Sarah Champ, said she planned to spend part of the money on a holiday "in the sunniest part of Italy I can find." She is a widow.

Locker Room Home Returned to St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It took a bit of doing, but the city of St. Louis has got back its locker room—and rubbing table—from Patrick Henry Boyle.

A jury recently decided that the basement area in the Forest Park Public Golf Course field house rightfully belongs to the city, not Boyle.

Much was said for Boyle's case, especially the fact that he has called the room home—and the rubdown table a bed—for seven years; and the fact that his two dogs, Shadow and Pal, had lived there with him, along with a TV set, a radio and 50 pounds of dog food.

"Boyle has done a service for the city," his lawyer argued. "There hasn't been one entry or one nickel lost in the night-time since the dogs have been there."

"You can't say that about any other city building."

It also was argued that the 51-year-old Boyle never interfered with the city's possession of the room.

The city pointed out, however, that golfers sometimes never got to use the rubbing table after a trying day on the links.

Boyle slept on it at least five hours a day.

According to Solar Tables calculated for this area, the best times for sitting and standing for today and tomorrow will be as follows (times shown are Pacific Standard Time):

TODAY		TOMORROW
AM	PM	AM	PM
11:15	4:00	11:35	4:25

Shocking Round For Five Teams

By IAN GLENDAY

LONDON—English football's "glamour" teams, the First and Second Division clubs who are exempt from the first two rounds of the Football Association Cup competition, received more than they bargained for in a shock third round watched by almost 900,000 spectators.

Five teams from the premier division, including strong London contender West Ham United, were eliminated in their first cup appearance—four of them losing to clubs from lower divisions. And there's still the chance that Arsenal will become the sixth First Division club on the sidelines after a second replay with surprising Rotherham of the Second Division.

It also wasn't a happy round for the Second Division clubs. Only 10 of the 22 starters are among the 32 survivors for the end-of-January fourth round although six of them have been favored with home draws and the division is well represented by such outstanding contenders as Aston Villa, Huddersfield, Sheffield United and Liverpool.

Hard to Explain

The uncertainty of cup football rules out the term "upset" to describe surprising defeats.

Yet it is hard to explain by any other terms the defeats of Manchester City, Birmingham City and Everton by Third and Fourth Division sides and even harder to reason non-league Peterborough's stunning victory at Ipswich, a better-than-average Second Division team with a fine home record.

Southampton, second only to Bury in the Third Division, came up with the outstanding victory of the round—a 5-1 triumph at Manchester City in a match completely dominated by the southerners and featured by the four-goal performance of high-scoring centre-forward Derek Reeves, who has already scored 34 of the club's league and cup goals.

Hit by Injury

Not far behind was Peterborough's come-from-behind, 3-2 win which was made all the more outstanding by the fact that the midland champions, denied so long membership in the Football League, were hit by an injury midway through the match.

Peterborough have been moving up the ladder in claiming their cup victims—first it was Walsall, the runaway Fourth Division leaders, and then Shrewsbury, one of the Third Division clubs fancied to earn promotion this season. But the next challenge may prove too much for them. It's an assignment that most First Division teams have failed to complete this season, a visit to Sheffield's improving Wednesday.

Birmingham, faced with player revolts and fan rebellions, couldn't master the situation at Watford, a Fourth Division side making a fine recovery after a disappointing 1958-59 campaign. The London club with the best one-two scoring punch in the country was full value for its 2-1 victory, and, as usual, scored the goals through ex-Arsenal Cliff Holton and Dennis Uphill, who between them have accounted for 53 of Watford's 64 cup and league goals this season.

Here again the luck of the draw wasn't kind. Watford must now play Southampton in the fourth round and the pairing between the two giant killers has been a disappointment to the many fans who had hoped that both clubs would continue a run similar to that of Norwich City last season. At least one of them will be able to play another round.

Another Surprise

Bradford City, in the bottom half of the Third Division, pulled off yet another surprise by crushing Everton of the First Division, 3-0. Here again it was a decisive victory and not one decided by luck, a fluke goal or against the run of play. And Bradford must rate a good chance of getting through to the next round for the City will be at home to Bournemouth, well-known cup fighter, but at a disadvantage away from the friendlier confines of the south coast.

There were plenty of other shocks. Port Vale, an unpredictable Third Division side, knocked off Cardiff in the Welsh city with a two-goal margin against a team favored to gain promotion to the First Division.

Won Replay

Huddersfield Town of the Second Division, after holding West Ham to a draw, won the replay at East London by a remarkable four-goal margin and continued to inflict humiliation on the Hammers, who have slipped steadily down the First Division table since briefly leading the pack.

Nottingham Forest, the cup holder, and runner-up Luton Town both squeaked through by one-goal margins but little non-league Bath, although drawn at home and having the edge in play, were blanked by Brighton.

Came Through

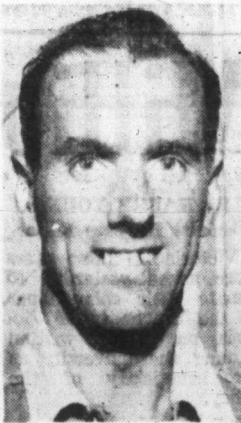

Two of the cup favorites, Tottenham and Wolverhampton, came through in variant fashion. Spurs triumphed in the mud at Newport by 4-0 but Wolves, rising to the occasion at Molineux with one of their best performances of the season, needed the replay to defeat Newcastle, probably the most famous of all cup fighters.

What fortunes are in store for the fourth round? Blackpool, Preston, Tottenham, Luton, Fulham, Manchester United, Notts Forest, Burnley and Bolton all must play away from home. But Spurs have probably the easiest assignment of the First Division clubs playing away with a match at Crewe.

One of the best fourth-round matches should take place in London, where Chelsea hosts Aston Villa, the powerful Second Division leader with a brilliant cup record. It will be a replay of last year's cup match between the two when Villa managed a 2-1 victory.

Wolves have got past one tough hurdle and they should have few worries at home against Charlton. But there are few easy tests in the next round and with a number of Second Division teams at home to First Division clubs the situation seems ripe for another round of surprises.

Penalty-kick specialist Willie Hamilton will be at regular fullback position Saturday afternoon at Royal Athletic Park as Brodie's star Province Cup soccer competition against Canadian Scottish. Game time is 2 p.m.

Oak Bay Homecoming Friday

By LARRY ROSE

Oak Bay is the latest to join a growing list of mainland and Vancouver Island high schools that stage a "homecoming" basketball game between present students and recent graduates.

What is expected to be an annual event at Oak Bay will take place Friday night with a preliminary game at 7:30 and the feature homecoming game following at 8:30.

Former graduates Wayne Farmer, Dick Sparks, Don Farquhar, Sandy Green and Jack McKay will test such present Oak Bay players as Dave Pollick, Barry Entwistle, Mike Cranston and Lee Gould. Oak Bay presently leads the Victoria and District League with an 8-1 record.

Meanwhile, annual home-and-home exhibition series between Oak Bay and Lord Byng Grey Ghosts of Vancouver will open Saturday night at Oak Bay.

Game time is 8:30 with a preliminary game beginning at 7:15 p.m.

Lord Byng opens its Vancouver Island stand Friday night at Victoria High against the B.C. champion Totems.

Game time Friday is also 8:30 p.m. with a preliminary game preceding the feature.

Both Oak Bay and Victoria High will journey to Vancouver within the next two weeks to complete the series.

Inter-High School Basketball League play resumes Friday night with doubleheaders scheduled at Esquimalt and Mount View.

Belmont plays Mount Douglas in a preliminary and Esquimalt meets North Saanich in the feature of the Esquimalt doubleheader. Games at Mount View see Milne's Landing play Royal Oak in the preliminary and Mount View meet St. Louis College in the feature.

The pair of doubleheaders are expected to help decide seeding of the nine local teams that will participate in the Lower Island zone tournament at Mount View, Feb. 19 and 20.

Inter-high school senior soccer competition for the Colonist Cup opened Wednesday afternoon at Carnarvon Park with centre-forward John Rosstron scoring three goals as Oak Bay downed Esquimalt 6-0.

A second game between highly-rated Victoria High and Belmont was cancelled and will be played at a later date.

Bob Turner had two goals for Oak Bay, one on a penalty-kick, while Brian Usher added a single.

An exhibition game at Oak

Bay saw Milne's Landing defeat Oak Bay "B" team 4-0.

From Victoria University comes news that two six-man teams from the university will participate in a volleyball tournament Friday night at Royal Roads.

The half-way mark of the varsity bowling league has been reached with the Beatniks holding first place. Comets and Lucky 13s follow.

Coach Ken McCulloch is attempting to arrange a grudge match for his Victoria University "Viking" "B" team against the senior Vikings. The former club has lost only one game this season—that to the senior Vikings.

Senior Vikings lost both ends of an up-Island doubleheader last weekend. Alberni's senior "B" team downed Vikings 46-38 Friday while Courtenay High School, finalists in last year's B.C. tournament, upset the varsity crew, 57-51, the following night.

City Skiers Repeat Trip Next Month

Excellent skiing conditions, weather and an encouraging turnout of skiers at the weekend made the Victoria Snow-Birds first venture across the Straits of Juan de Fuca to the Olympic Mountains an unqualified success.

So successful was the venture that the group plans a similar improved trip, Feb. 13 and 14. In order to speed up transportation from Port Angeles to Hurricane Ridge, car pools will be formed in Victoria with only a slight additional cost to skiers. The trip to Port Angeles was made on the new Mv Coho.

Three feet of new powder snow, fine accommodation and a heated swimming pool for the Victoria visitors all helped to make the stay enjoyable. Forty-seven from Victoria made the trip which swelled the total on the ski slopes to over 350 Saturday and 500 Sunday.

Strong Start

Peters Out At New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many stocks beat a fast retreat in the final hours of trading, just when it looked as though the bulls would have their way.

Early strength—led by steel, chemical and auto shares—gave way eventually to selling pressure to force a turn-around in prices in the closing minutes.

The industrial stock average was up around 3 at its top in the early trading, but gave ground gradually thereafter as traders began chipping away at the blue chips.

Selling in the steels brought a loss of more than a point in U.S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet, Bethlehem dropped a major fraction.

Rails closed with a nominal net gain in their average, helped largely by a rise of 1 1/2 in Norfolk & Western, and a gain of around a half in Delaware & Hudson.

Autos sagged with losses holding within a fractional range. Electronics sported declines of 2 in IBM and a point or more in Texas Instruments and Motorola. General Time countered with a 1-point rise.

Don't managed a fair recovery from Tuesday's 7 1/2-point tumble.

Cockshutt Gains

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges ended with prices generally lower.

Price gained 1/2 at 4 1/2 in papers but Abitibi was down 1/2.

Base metals turned weak with Hudson Bay down 1/2 at 50 1/2 and International Nickel 1/2 at 97 1/2.

Gains in utilities came from Bell, up 1/2 at 43 1/2, and Galtel up 1/2 at 35 1/2. Losers included B.C. Power, down 1/2 at 35 1/2.

Imperial Oil gained 1/2 at 45 1/2 and Interprovincial lost 1/2 at 39. Home was up 1/2 at 12 1/2 in Western oils and Pacific Petroleum down 1/2 at 11 1/2.

In miscellaneous shares, Cockshutt scored a new high for this month and 1959, up 1/2 at 24.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters)—Stock prices developed a firmer tendency.

Dollar stocks were marked down in sympathy with Wall Street levels. Foreign bonds were irregular.

Steel shares were fractionally better but electrical and motor shares were irregular. Stores rallied from an uncertain opening and oils picked up from a dull start.

Gold shares were mostly lower in quiet trading and coppers were dull.

Grain Market

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was on the slow side.

Featured were reports of the sale of three cargoes of Canadian wheat to Japan and sale of a half-cargo of Canadian barley to Northern Ireland.

The export business in barley did not reflect in the trade, which was confined mostly to domestic shipping orders. Support in barley was light.

Insurance Scheme Proposed

Million for University?

By HARRY YOUNG Colonist Business Editor

Victoria life underwriters were asked yesterday to donate their commissions to the University of Victoria on policies written naming the university as the beneficiary of the policy.

Jack Barraclough, local underwriter, told the Victoria Chapter of the Life Underwriters Association that there were many people who would like to give money to University of Victoria as a legacy.

He suggested that this could be done by taking out a life insurance policy naming the University as the beneficiary, and he believed that life underwriters would be making a worthwhile contribution to the cause if they agreed to donate their commissions on such policies up to a limit of $10,000.

Mr. Barraclough believed that with the co-operation of the Victoria Chapter a sum of over $1,000,000 could be raised for the University endowment fund, together with the cash that would be generated from the underwriters' donations of their personal commissions.

A meeting of the Victoria chapter is to be held shortly to consider the proposal.

New officers of the Victoria chapter were installed by Duncan Davidson, CLU, regional vice-president of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada.

Sidney Smith, CLU, was installed as president for the second term. R. Weatherdon, as first vice-president, and Don Morrison as second vice-president. The elected directors were Ernest Schoen, Edward Chow, George Forrest and Leonard Lanquist. Past president is C. M. MacLeod.

PIPELINES MAY APPEAL
A spokesman for Collins Construction Company of Port Lavaca, Texas, informed the Daily Colonist by telephone yesterday that its B.C. associate, Island Transmission Company, was considering an appeal against the recent Island natural gas line decision made by the PUC.

Island Transmission was the loser to Magna Pipeline in a hearing in Victoria for a permit to supply Vancouver Island with natural gas from the mainland.

Island Transmission proposed to use the Collins Construction Company to lay a conventional underwater pipeline across the Strait of Georgia.

Magna proposes to use a flexible pipeline to be manufactured by the English firm of Callender's Insulated Cables, which also made the high-voltage under-water electric cable for BCE that connects the mainland with Vancouver Island.

Collins Construction Company states that the Magna flexible pipe does not meet the mandatory standards set by the Canadian Pipeline Act, and also stated that a re-evaluation of the Magna figures indicates that it could not economically operate under those terms.

An appeal against a PUC decision is unusual but is provided for, either on a question of fact or law.

PROFITS INCREASED
Net profit of Interprovincial Pipeline Company for 1959 was $15,604,000 ($3.08 a share) against $12,687,745 ($2.51 a share) in 1958.

IWA ANSWERED
J. V. Clynne, chairman of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River, made a pretty good record in replying to IWA and other critics about the increased profits made by MacMillan and Bloedel in the year ended Sept. 30, 1959.

IWA spokesmen had criticized the company for its "distress statements" leading up to the logging strike last summer, and then a few months later for showing a "prosperity" report.

Mr. Clynne commented that MacMillan and Bloedel profits for the past two years had been clouded by strike trouble, one way or another, and that the $13,000,000 earnings of 1959 were still $5,000,000 less than had been made in 1955 and 1956 when the capital of the company was lower, and the production facilities smaller.

"IWA spokesmen do not recommend wages going down with prices or profits, but cite any increase as justifying a raise," said Mr. Clynne. When profits were cut in half (MacMillan made $8,000,000 in 1957) the IWA did not recommend a wage slash, or even that wages should remain frozen.

Obviously the IWA cannot expect to have it both ways.

SHAREHOLDERS DOUBLED
Molson's Brewery Ltd. more than doubled its number of shareholders as a result of the recent mergers with Sicks Breweries.

H. De M. Molson, president, told the annual meeting that most of the Sicks' shareholders had transferred their holdings into Molson's and that the company now had 7,200 shareholders of whom 1,500 were in British Columbia.

PRODUCTION RESUMES
American Motors Canada Ltd. is to restart production of Rambler cars at its Toronto works this year. Since 1957 Rambler cars have been imported from the States for the Canadian market.

DIVIDENDS PAID
Dividends paid by Canadian companies during January amounted to $73,743,018, a small increase from the $73,192,096 of the corresponding month of 1958.

FAILED TO COMPLY
Reason given for delisting on that date was that the company had failed "under its listing agreement to comply with a request for financial information deemed to be in the public interest."

Yesterday the "over-the-counter" price quoted on Canadian Javelin shares was $9.75. The shares listed on the American Stock Exchange in New York City fell $2.37 to $8.50. The stock sold as high as $18.25 last year.

At present the company has outstanding 12,000,000 common shares and 4,830,035 shares of no par value.

Shares of Canadian Javelin Limited, formed in 1951, are not listed on any Canadian stock exchanges. At one time they were listed on the Canadian Stock Exchange in Montreal but were delisted Oct. 15, 1953.

Yankees Surprise Ford

'I Had Lousy Year!'

NEW YORK (AP) — Ball players are strange people. Take Whitey Ford, for instance. The New York Yankees' premier left-handed pitcher received his 1960 contract in the mails yesterday. He looked at the salary figures and blinked. He took a better and longer look. Yes, the figures were large and clear—$35,000—the same salary he received last year.

"The first thing I did," Ford said today, "was search around the house for a stamp. I thought sure the front office had made a mistake. I was going to sign that contract and get it back to them as fast as I could before they changed their minds."

Noting the surprised look on the listener's face, Whitey suddenly asked:

"What do you think? Should I have gotten a cut?"

"Well," said the listener, hunting a tactful reply, "I don't know. You did win 16 games while losing 10 and your 3.04 earned run average wasn't bad . . ."

"Aw, who are you kidding?" chided Ford. "I had a lousy year. I didn't win a big game all season. Who did I beat? Kansas City and Washington? You know, I've had some pretty good years with the Yankees. I never won 20 but that never bothered me. That's because I won the big ones. I knocked off the contenders. I beat Chicago and Cleveland, the teams the Yankees had to beat to win pennants. I didn't do that last year."

Ken Watson on Curling

Out-Turnitus Can Be Licked

(Canada's "Mr. Curling," Ken Watson of Winnipeg, is covering the Canadian curling scene for The Daily Colonist. This is another in a series.)

For some strange reason many curlers favor the in-turn when asked for a particular shot because they feel more confident of their ability to get results with it. The cause of this prejudice can often be traced back to their first appearance on the ice. Usually, when a newly-initiated member is introduced to his skip as a very, very green curler, his lordship makes a careful note to give his new lead nothing but in-turns for the first 30 games.

With such a benevolently naive introduction to the royal and ancient pastime is it any wonder that a mental block occurs when an out-turn shot is called for? Physically, this turn for a right-hander should be easier to manipulate, particularly for play directed to the right hand side of the ice. In such cases the curler in the hack is swinging away from rather than across the body.

The chief difficulty in executing an out-turn is caused by the player unwinding the handle of the rock during the backswing. Thus when the forward swing begins the arm and wrist have to turn outward (away from the body) as far as the muscles permit. The handle has therefore ceased turning when the stone hits the ice and only by bending the elbow can the player force the wrist to give the handle a last-second wrench.

There are two cures for this muscular malady. First is to start the backswing with the handle pointing straight back then concentrate on pulling the stone back without turning the wrist. As only a small percentage of curlers succeed in this method effectively, let's look at the alternative.

A quick look at today's illustration reveals the handle of the stone slanted to the left at the stance position. This is sometimes referred to as a cross-handle and offers an answer to the prayers of those afflicted with out-turnitus.

England Wins

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (Reuters) — England received a much needed morale-booster Tuesday when whirlwind batting took them to a surprise six-wickets victory over Trinidad.

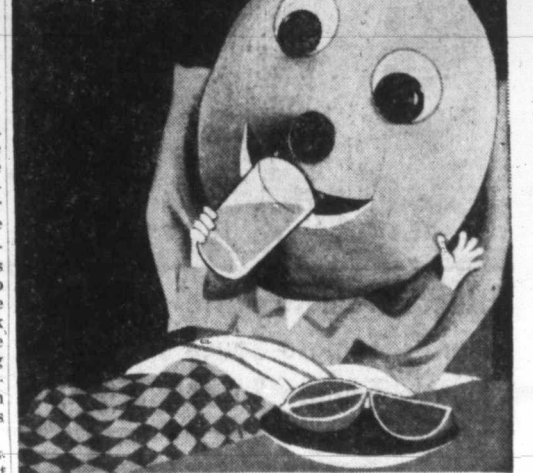

Final scores were Trinidad 301 for 9 declared and 131 for 6 declared; England 171 for 9 declared and 262 for 4.

Place the thumb on the upper side of the handle with the forefinger underneath. See that the three remaining fingers act only as a cradle for holding the handle during the swing. With the thumb and index finger guiding the turning handle there is less chance of unwinding the wrist too early.

'Beat your cold with a hot nightcap' says Sunny Sunkist

Best way to get rid of a cold is to take it to bed with hot lemonade. Squeeze the juice of 2 fresh Sunkist Lemons into a glass of hot water and drink it last thing at night. PREMIER SMALLWOOD

Trapped By Seat Of Pants

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Rev. Bill Baker was trapped in a wrecked sports car — the seat of his pants caught on a window post.

A bus stopped and the driver and passengers helped free the minister — only after he shed his trousers in the freezing weather.

'Frightening Campaign'

Unions Selfish Smallwood Says

We Must Tell Them

VANCOUVER (CP) — Cedric Cox, CCF member of the legislature for Burnaby, said Tuesday trade unionists must teach their wives and families what they are fighting for.

He said if they do not, union solidarity will be so undermined that even more restrictive legislation than the controversial Trade Unions Act will be passed.

"We have to teach them we're fighting the capitalists for everyone — not just ourselves."

Mr. Cox was addressing the western regional conference of the International Union of Mines, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) here.

EDMONTON (CP) — Trade unions are conducting a frightening campaign to control society, Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland said yesterday at a press conference.

There was a time when trade unionism and idealism were one and the same thing, the Liberal premier said. "Today trade unions, instead of fighting for their place in society, are trying to control society... It's frightening."

Mr. Smallwood said the trade union movement, with rare exceptions, "has become a gigantic, relentless movement of selfishness."

This form of trade unionism was encountered in Newfoundland last year during the bitter strike by the International Woodworkers of America, he said. The Newfoundland legislature decertified the union.

Pacific Stage Deal

Island Coach Lines Buys BCE Firms

Victoria is scheduled to become head office site and maintenance headquarters for one of the largest inter-city coach services in Canada.

Word of the city's new transportation role came in an announcement yesterday by Vancouver Island Coach Lines owner Harold Hushard that his firm has purchased Pacific Stage Lines and Vancouver Gray Line Motor Tours from B.C. Electric, subject to approval of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission.

But G. Conway Parrott, general manager of VICL, said that obtaining PUC approval "is just a formality."

The city company is scheduled to take over the operation of the BCE subsidiaries March 1.

Island Coach Lines, with 60 buses and 150 employees, operates an inter-city service on the Island and a daily service connecting Victoria and Vancouver via Nanaimo ferries.

Pacific Stages serves the lower mainland with 67 buses and a staff of 220.

Police 'Assault' Claim Checked

VANCOUVER (CP) — Senior police officers are investigating a charge that a detective sergeant and a detective assaulted a man in his room.

Wo Sai filed a formal complaint that the two men forced the door of his room, knocking him against a piece of furniture.

Japanese Premier in Ottawa

Kishi Arrives Today

OTTAWA (UPI)—Japanese Prime Minister Kishi arrives here from Washington today for the 24-hour visit is the first

'Support Japanese Or Face Disaster'

If Western nations don't deliberately made itself dependent on the Western world for materials and markets in its amazing re-organization and recovery, he said. If this experiment fails, if Japan can't buy and sell enough in the West and has another depression, the country will return to its old Asian continentalism, rejoining its "cultural mother" in China. The economic power of Communism would be overwhelming with the Japanese industrial complex meshed with the raw materials of China and Siberia, Mr. Hutchison said. Economically, Japan has to this country by a Japanese premier.

Kishi is scheduled to arrive by plane shortly before noon. He will be greeted by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and External Affairs Minister Green. His schedule calls for both morning and afternoon talks with Canadian ministers, a call on Governor-General Vanier, a brief visit to the House of Commons and an official reception and dinner.

Before leaving for Chicago tomorrow, he will hold further discussions with government leaders.

The visit comes at a time when the Canadian government is under conflicting pressures over this country's trade with Japan. Officials said this subject will occupy much of the Kishi-Diefenbaker discussions.

'The Children Died Quickly'

SMELTERTVILLE, Idaho (AP)—"It was a blazing inferno when we got there. There was no sound from inside the house—the three children apparently suffocated quickly."

Kellogg firechief Bill Linhart described this scene on his arrival at a four-room frame house where three children died Wednesday in a fire blamed on an overheated oil stove.

Flames were leaping out the doors and windows of the small home by the time Linhart and his crew ended a quick, 2½-mile run from near-by Kellogg.

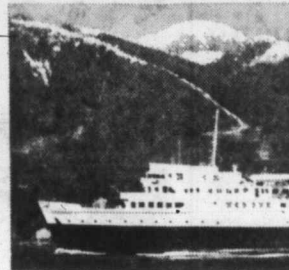

"There was nothing we could do," said Linhart. "After the flames were knocked down, I went into the house and found the bodies."

"All were in their beds. All must have died quickly." Dead are six-year-old Stephen, 20-month-old Sandra and

No Delay On Peace

The memorandum of agreement covering development of Peace River power permits no "delay or change based on the progress of Columbia treaty," Premier Bennett said yesterday.

The government wants both rivers developed as soon as possible, the premier said in a letter to the Colonist and other B.C. metropolitan dailies.

His remarks appeared to apply to the statement of W. C. Mainwaring, president of Peace River Power Development Company, that the Peace River development would not go ahead if the Columbia was developed simultaneously, unless the federal government approved exporting power.

To delay either project for 20 years, the premier said, would not only hold back total development of B.C. but would more than double the cost of the delayed project.

"In view of the extensive discussion" of the matter, he asked the newspapers to publish the memorandum of agreement between the B.C. government and the Peace

No Desertion —Mainwaring

VANCOUVER (CP) — W. C. Mainwaring, president of Peace River Power Development Company, said Wednesday his company would delay—not abandon—development of hydro power on the Peace River if development of the Columbia proceeded first.

River interests, which, he said, "speaks for itself, both as to the absence of any qualifying reference to the Columbia and as to the complete protection it affords the citizens of British Columbia in the management of one of their great natural resources."

Text of Memorandum

This is the text of the memorandum: Memorandum of Agreement made this 7th day of October, 1957, between Birger Strid, director, of Stockholm, Sweden, and Bernard Gore, director, of London, England (hereinafter referred to as "the principals"), acting on behalf of Axel Wenner-Gren, of Stockholm, of the first part.

And the government of the province of British Columbia, represented by the minister of finance, of the second part.

Whereas in a Memorandum of Intention entered into between the parties hereto on November 16th, 1956, it was agreed in part as follows:

"The principals shall cause the Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Co. Ltd. to survey the water resources of the proposed area of development with the object of hydro development, such survey to be contemporaneous with rail and forestry surveys mentioned above; the result of such survey of water resources to be filed with the comptroller of water rights, Department of Lands and Forests of British Columbia."

And whereas extensive surveys have been carried out in accordance with the above memorandum and the results of these surveys indicate that at site technical engineering work must be carried out to determine the feasibility of the installation of electric power projects on the Peace River:

"Parties Hereto Agree"

The parties hereto now agree as follows:

1. The principals undertake to carry out such technical feasibility surveys as are deemed necessary to substantiate preliminary conclusions already reached that the construction of a major hydro-electric project on the Peace River is practicable.

2. The principals undertake to carry out these surveys so that on or before December 31st, 1959, if found feasible from the engineering standpoint, a firm construction commitment may be finalized and a comprehensive plan providing for the maximum economic development of the Peace River potential may be filed with the comptroller of water rights.

3. The principals undertake, should the detailed engineering studies and surveys substantiate the preliminary conclusions, to proceed with the construction of a major hydro-electric project on the Peace River in accordance with the laws of the province and the terms of this agreement.

4. The principals agree, in order to determine the practicability as aforesaid, that the following terms and conditions shall apply to the construction and operation of any hydro-electric project on the Peace River:

(a) That the comprehensive plan for the economic development of the Peace River potential shall be approved by the Comptroller of Water Rights within three months of the filing of same, such approval not to be unreasonably withheld, and that the plan shall show inter alia the phases and times of construction, estimated costs, and in so far as possible physically the programme for placing generated energy on the market;

(b) The usage of any water and the sequence of development of hydro-electric power projects shall be subject to the approval of the Comptroller of Water Rights under the provisions of the Water Act;

(c) No major diversion of the course of any river or stream shall be made;

(d) Any land flooded shall where necessary be suitably cleared and prepared to the satisfaction of the Minister of Lands and Forests. Merchantable timber in such areas shall be utilized in as effective a manner as practicable;

(e) All public buildings, railways, roads and other public structures within any area to be flooded shall be replaced to the satisfaction of the public body which owns or occupies the property flooded; provided that any such public body shall only require replacement to an equal standard of construction or condition to that existing at the time of such flooding;

(f) All owners or their successors in title holding private property as at the date of this agreement within any area to be flooded shall be compensated in the manner provided for in the Water Act;

(g) The power produced shall be made available on a first-come basis in the north-east and north-central regions of the Province; Power which is surplus from time to time to the then requirements of these areas shall be made available in the public interest throughout the Province to the British Columbia Power Commission, utility companies, industrial and other prospective users;

(h) The rates charged for all power sold shall be subject to regulation by the Public Utilities Commission of the Province, provided that no additional sum shall be charged in the north-east and north-central areas to equalize costs of transmission to other parts of the Province;

(i) All taxes, rates, rentals, royalties, fees and other charges levied under any law of the Province, including rental for water used for power production in the developed project, shall be paid where applicable;

(j) A company incorporated under the laws of the Province shall be formed to develop and operate the power project contemplated in this agreement. At least two Canadian residents in the Province shall be members of the board of directors of the company so formed. Canadians shall be given the opportunity to participate in the capital financing of the company;

(k) Downstream benefits shall be calculated and the Province shall be entitled to share in any return from these benefits. All negotiations for the return of downstream benefits under this clause shall be made by the Province. If a formula has been established for calculating such benefits for any other British Columbia river it shall be used.

(l) British Columbia equipment, labor and supplies shall be given preference where practicable. Whenever practicable, the transportation of men and materials shall be routed by the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

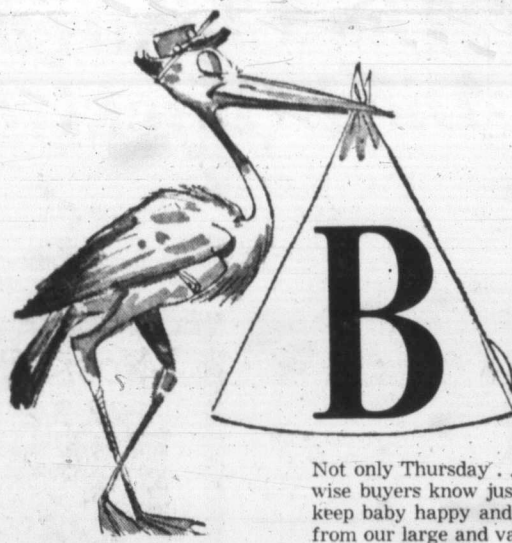

5. The Comptroller of Water Rights shall be entitled to receive from time to time details of all surveys including data obtained through an at site drilling program, and such other studies or information as he may require.

6. The sum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000.00) supplied by the principals as outlined in the Memorandum of Intention already referred to shall be held as a continuing deposit to ensure that the undertakings provided for in articles one, two and five of this agreement are carried out. Insofar as the deposit is concerned, this agreement supplements the obligation of the principals under the original Memorandum of Intention, but does not otherwise alter that Memorandum.

7. The Province of British Columbia undertakes

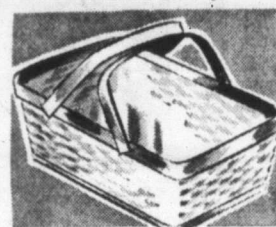

(a) to maintain a reservation on the waters of the Peace River for power purposes and

(b) if a firm commitment to develop this project is received on or before December 31st, 1959, as herein provided, to ensure priority of application to the principals for such licences as may be required for the proper development of the project referred to in this agreement.

'War' Unlikely to Spread

No 30.9-Cent Gasoline Here

Victoria motorists are going to have to travel to Vancouver if they want to fill their tanks with 30.9-cent-per-gallon gasoline, oil company officials predicted here yesterday.

They said that a Vancouver price-war which has forced gasoline as low 30.9 cents at one independent filling station 33.9 cents at others, and 35.9 cents at "brand-name" stations is not likely to spread to Victoria.

One spokesman said that the Vancouver situation is caused by gasoline being brought into the mainland city by tank-truck from the U.S., thus avoiding a freight differential.

He said the same situation could hardly take place here because loaded tank-trucks cannot be carried on ferries with passengers and passenger cars.

"A company would pretty well have to start its own barge service and that is almost out of the question," he said.

It could only come about, he added, "if there was a refinery down around Seattle with heavy commitments for fuel oil and, as a result, with gasoline coming out its ears."

Mount Douglas

Want a Park?
Saanich AskedSource
Of Plan
Mystery

Saanich council was asked yesterday to discuss whether or not the municipality would like to take over city-owned Mount Douglas Park.

Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee made the request, after hearing a report from City Solicitor T. P. O'Grady that it would be advisable to seek provincial legislation to permit the transfer if it was desired.

SUGGESTION OBSCURE

Where the suggestion came from in the first place, no one seems to recall.

"It's never been discussed in our council," said Saanich Coun. George Austin.

The committee also:

● Approved April 16 as official opening date for the dressing rooms provided by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Elk Lake.

● Voted to seek $15,000 this year from Victoria and Saanich. Last year the same amount was requested, and Saanich council was prepared to contribute its $5,000 share. But city council cut its $10,000 to $8,000, so Saanich contributed $4,000.

● Approved spending $750 on clearing of underbrush in Mount Douglas Park.

S. J. Willis Site Issue

Anti-'Trespass' Arguments
Don't Impress Scurrah

Mayor Percy Scurrah doesn't think much of the arguments of spokesmen for the other Greater Victoria municipalities against the school board buying from the city the S. J. Willis school property on which it is "trespassing."

So he indicated yesterday in reviewing the arguments. Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay said his municipality holds title to the sites of Willows, Monterey and Oak Bay High schools and should be able to collect from Victoria if Victoria collects from Oak Bay.

But these schools were built before the Greater Victoria school board was formed. Mayor Scurrah said, and there was no requirement that the board acquire the sites. The S. J. Willis school was built on city property after formation of the Greater Victoria board, and the board was required by law to acquire title before building it.

Deputy Reeve George Austin of Saanich said it wouldn't be "fair" of Victoria to try to get part of the cost of the S. J. Willis site from Saanich.

MOST IN SAANICH

Most of the schools to be built in Greater Victoria in the next 20 years will be in Saanich, Mayor Scurrah answered. "Thirteen or 14 of them, toward which Victoria taxpayers will be paying a considerable portion."

And Coun. G. K. Sammon, of Esquimalt, called it unfair of Victoria to try to collect the 1949 market value of the property; Esquimalt, he said, has made a practice of selling school sites for assessed value, not market value, and recently sold a school site worth $40,000 to $50,000 for $5,000.

"We sold the Macdonald Park school site for $1," said Mayor Scurrah. "That's a matter of policy of Esquimalt's own council, and nothing to do with the case."

Spark-Set Sawmill Fire
Causes Minor Damage

Only slight damage was caused during the noon hour yesterday when sparks from a waste burner set fire to the understructure of a green chain at Moore-Whittington Co. Ltd., 2614 Bridge, sawmill division.

The fire was quickly controlled by city firemen, and as they worked a second alarm fire sent fire trucks racing to St. Ann's Academy. This proved to be a false alarm.

Ship Grounds
On Sand Bar

A Navy auxiliary vessel went aground on a sand bar in Nanos Bay, between Nanaimo and Parksville, yesterday afternoon but was not damaged.

The CNAV Songhee, based at Patricia Bay, ran aground at 1:30 p.m. The CNAV tug Heatherston was dispatched on a stand-by basis, but the Songhee reports it should be free of the bar by 9 a.m. today.

Oak Bay
Clinic
Monthly

A baby clinic, to be held once a month at St. Philip's Church, will be put into operation Wednesday by the Oak Bay health department.

Offering free inoculations for diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio, and free smallpox vaccination, the clinic will be open from 2 to 4 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

Two public health nurses and voluntary assistants will run the clinic, which will also provide information for parents on better health for their children.

Two Miles of Road

In City Today

James McGivrin of Vancouver, Dominion president of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association, will present life memberships to five members of the Victoria branch at the annual meeting at 8 p.m. today in the association hall, 1001 Wharf Street.

Flares Dropped
By U.S. Plane

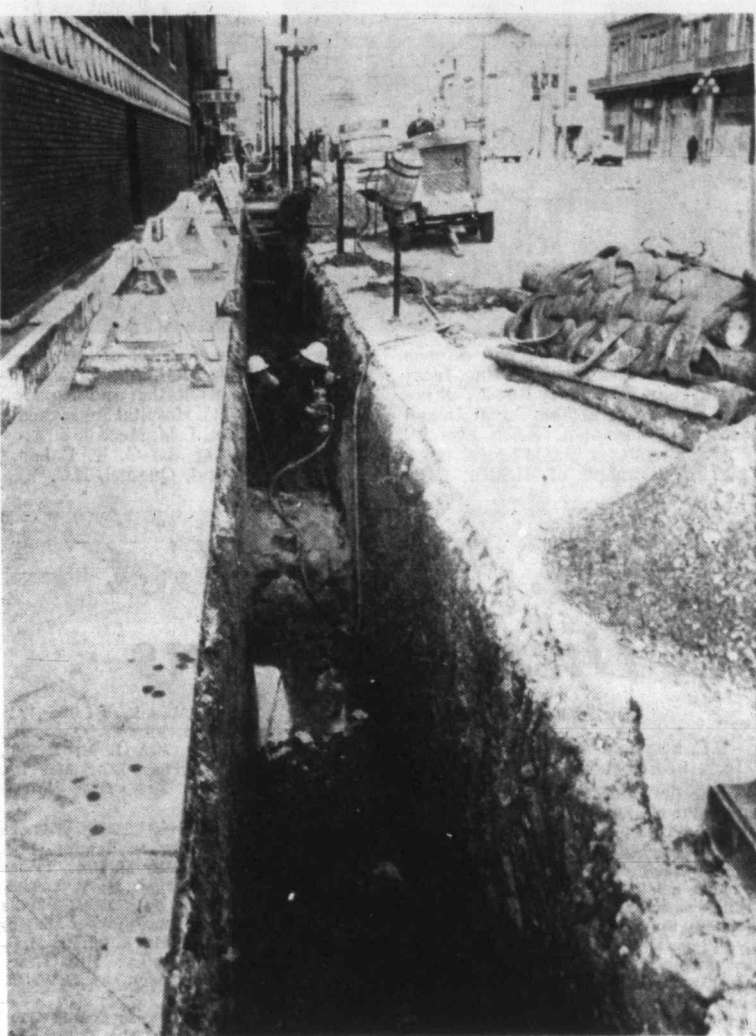

Flares reported by a number of residents off Discovery Island early last night were apparently dropped by a United States air force plane taking part in an exercise.

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said yesterday tenders for a two-mile stretch of new road from Sidney to Swartz Bay will be called on Friday.

The new road will eliminate the existing curves and follow a route back of Sandown race-track and back of McDonald provincial park to the Swartz Bay road and the new government ferry terminal which will be immediately west of the existing wharf used by the Gulf Islands ferries.

Mr. Gagliardi said tenders for the new $400,000 wharf and building will be called in about six weeks.

Mr. Gagliardi explained that the new road will not affect the road into Sidney and would not interfere with any plans to re-route the Patricia Bay Highway if the federal government ever decides to lengthen the airport runways.

Work on the city's underground wiring project is proceeding on schedule, according to officials of B.C. Electric Co., and the digging of

Saanich Plan

$100,000
For Parks

By TERRY HAMMOND

Saanich municipality will spend close to $100,000 on parkland purchases this year if council adopts a plan outlined last night by Reeve George Chatterton.

"And by the end of 1960 the municipality will be out of pocket only $18,000 in implementing the program.

$30,000 TOTAL

Taxpayers would be asked to put up a total of $30,000 under the terms of the half-mill parklands-purchase referendum which they approved last month, but $12,000 of this will be recoverable.

The remainder will come from a $15,000 donation announced last night by the Victoria Gyo Club, and by sale of what Reeve Chatterton described as "small, scattered and unusable lots which have been dedicated to park use in past years."

EQUAL AMOUNTS

The park purchase total will be spent in about equal amounts on the expansion of Cadboro Bay Gyo Park and on purchase of some 4½ acres of land near Glanford and Kenneth.

Reeve Chatterton said the latter project would hinge on Saanich being able to work out a joint park-playground scheme with the Greater Victoria School Board, which plans a high school on adjacent land.

Close to $50,000 would be spent on the acquisition of four acres of land bordering on Cadboro Bay Park, said the reeve.

"This is a major park and it must be expanded as soon as possible," he said.

From $40,000 to $50,000 will be spent on the Glanford-Kenneth site, but the municipality will subdivide 1½ acres of this and sell it for building lots, recovering an estimated $12,000.

Sale of several parcels of useless parkland, among them eight residential lots on Townley about a block from Carnarvon Park, is expected to raise about $50,000.

The reeve said that a Saanich delegation will shortly approach the Greater Victoria school board with the hope of working out the terms of an agreement for joint development of the Glanford-Kenneth grounds.

By combining the school site with the land to be purchased by Saanich, a park-playground area of some 16 acres would be created, he said.

The reeve's statement came on the heels of a Saanich town planning report which indicated the need for a long-range parkland purchase expenditure of approximately $3,000,000 in order to achieve a ratio of parkland space to population of about 10 acres per 1,000 people.

Saanich at present has 2.7 acres of developed open space per 1,000 population.

Of Guest?

Tourist trade group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce may borrow the Victoria Kinsmen Club's "mystery guest" attraction as part of its 1960 Tourist Appreciation Week program.

Dr. Hugh Borsman, chairman of the TAW committee, told the group at a meeting last night that instead of offering a draw on a trip for a Victorian who supports the program, his committee is considering bringing a friend or relative of the winner to this city from any point in North America.

Under the plan each purchaser of a TAW button would request a visit from a friend or relative living in North America. A draw would be held at the close of the week's activities.

Stay of Execution
Given All-Sooke Day

"All-Sooke Day" has received a stay of execution.

Members of the Sooke Community Association, who had considered abandoning the annual fair, met last night and made plans to try it again July 23.

As in previous years, logging sports will be one of the main attractions. On July 23, the annual Victoria-Sooke marathon race will kick off the celebration.

B.C. Nurses Get Disaster Plans

By EILEEN LEAROYD

B.C. hospitals from Dawson Creek to Fernie, from Victoria to Ft. St. John, are preparing for disaster.

For the first time in B.C.'s history, there are assembled in Victoria, Directors of Nursing representing nearly every hospital in the province—from one of the smallest, the eight-bed Esperanza Hospital at Ceepeece, to the 2,000-bed Vancouver General Hospital.

They are here to learn how to deal with both local and national disasters.

NUCLEAR BOMB

The nurses from 48 hospitals are attending a four-day session at the Empress Hotel covering talks and panel discussions on everything from local emergencies such as fires, floods and train wrecks to the havoc of a nuclear explosion.

The "Emergency Health Service" course, which began Monday and finishes today, is planned jointly by the provincial health department and the provincial civil defence branch.

FROM OTTAWA

The meetings are being attended in an advisory capacity by Dr. Gordon Fryer, Ottawa, medical consultant to the federal emergency health service.

Dr. Fryer who is also commanding officer of 113 Manning Depot, Ottawa, will take part today in the panel discussion, "Nursing Problems in Disaster Planning."

Dr. Fryer said the talks were built around a broad program, since they had to fit the individual needs and the geographical location of each hospital involved.

As part of this broad plan, the nursing directors have had talks from representatives of the armed services, from Dr. G. M. Schrumm of UBC, provincial welfare, and veterinarian departments.

The orientation course has included such subjects as radiation, fire prevention, organization of food supplies, responsibilities of the army, civil defence measures, evacuation of patients and discussions from federal, provincial health departments as well as the role of the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

During the course of the 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. meetings, groups divide into syndicates to discuss local problems, followed by expert panel advice from people such as Dr. Fryer, Brig. G. A. McCarter of the civil defence group, deputy minister of health Dr. G. F. Amyot and D. M. Cox of BCHIS.

Hartnell Shows Monday Grey

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters)—Royal dressmaker Norman Hartnell Wednesday dropped a group of gaily-colored tweeds into the London fashion trend toward grey for the coming spring and summer.

Hartnell, dressmaker to the Queen, named his tweeds after the days of the week.

Only Monday was grey, and it was brightened by a soft tangerine-colored felt cloche and a matching posy of spring and summer flowers tucked in a vertical slit pocket. For other days, colors included a bright cherry red for Wednesday and a lilac tweed for Friday.

Alongside his use of color for suits and topcoats, Hartnell used some striking prints

"Your little one is talking!" comments a friend.

"Oh! yes. He's three now and he can say everything." This mother intimates that so far as talking is concerned, her young man has finished his course. This thinking is common to a great number of parents.

They work quite hard to get the small boy or girl to say words in the second year, and after that? . . . Well, after that things take care of themselves.

But do they?

Let's look at the child's language development as it may proceed.

Father is away all day. Mother gets tired of hearing the little voice and is not too encouraging. Small companions talk together, but only in a simple fashion.

School, follows. Here the child is with a group of 30 or 40, in one class, for most of the day. He must curtail his desire to speak during this time.

Nevertheless, it is evident that schools have a refining and improving influence on language skills.

The same child at home may spend his leisure with TV.

The dinner table with a tired father may, by request or command, be a very quiet affair. It may be used as a court of inquiry into the day's wrong-doings.

The adolescent, arriving at a stage where language can be an expression of his personality with family, friends and business associates, is frustrated.

We are aware that this dark picture is not representative of every family—fortunately. We are aware that at one stage the young child is a continuous chatterbox.

His thoughts and speech run along together. It is only as he matures that he separates them.

We know, too, about the talkative adolescent, garrulous with his own age group, not so fluent with grownups.

But we feel that at home children do need more opportunity for improving their use of language in conversation.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a God-fearing woman who has worked hard to raise a family. My youngest daughter is a widow 30 years of age. I just learned something which I've suspected a long time. She's having a love affair with her boss who is a married man with a family.

I make my home with this daughter and take care of her three children. I am badly needed as she would have to hire a housekeeper if I weren't here, and it would be expensive.

At the same time I hate living in a home where there is a "shameless" sin. I could manage alone on my small pension if I took a room somewhere. It would be difficult but at least I would have my self respect.

I read the Bible every night for comfort, but I don't find the answer to this problem which torments me night and day. Can you help? —IN SORROW.

Dear In Sorrow: Keep reading, and when you come to the line, "Hate the sin but love the sinner," put a bookmark in the pace and review it daily.

You are not responsible for your daughter's behavior. She's a grown woman and must choose her own way. If you leave to demonstrate disapproval of her conduct the ones who will suffer the most will be the children.

Stay where you are so desperately needed. You are performing a greater service than you know, Mother.

All Your Own Teeth?

Dear Ann Landers: My dad says your picture in the paper is pretty. He says you look quite young to know so much.

My mother says that picture was probably taken 20 years ago when you were 30.

Do you have all your own teeth, Mrs. Landers? My Mother says you probably have plates. My Dad says your teeth are your own natural ones. My Mother and Dad never agree on anything. Will you settle this please? It will be one less thing for them to fight about. Yours truly—JAMES S.

P.S.: Do you think I will make a good newspaper man? I am 12 years old now.

Dear James: The picture that appears with my column was taken less than two years ago—when I was 40. I do have all my own teeth so your Dad wins that round.

I think you will make a fine newspaper man because you are not bashful when it comes to asking questions. Warm regards—ANN LANDERS.

Who Pays for Gown?

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter who is 17 was asked to be a bridesmaid at a girl friend's wedding. The bride comes from a well-to-do family. We are in modest circumstances; in fact, the truth of the matter is we are pretty hard up.

Our daughter tells us the bride has selected the dresses and hats for the bridesmaids and the girls are expected to pay for them. They also must buy shoes to match the gowns. This is a pretty big expense and I wonder if it is right that the girls must pay for their own outfits. It hardly seems fair as they are actually doing the bride a favor. Will you tell us what is proper?—IGNORANT.

Dear Ignorant: According to the rules of etiquette, the bridesmaids are expected to pay for their own outfits. Usually the dresses are conservative and can be worn for proms and parties later, so it's not a total loss. In special cases the bride's family has been known to outfit the entire wedding party. But this is indeed unusual.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

What's Cooking!

Rock Cornish Hen With Rice Stuffing

By LOUISE MOORE

Rock Cornish hens are little game birds that make the perfect choice for one or two-some cooking.

Sometimes there is enough meat on a Cornish hen to serve two, especially when they are split and broiled. But our choice is a bird stuffed with wild rice and apricots, spiked with brandy or sherry. Some prefer the regular bread stuffing herbed with thyme and marjoram.

Before stuffing, wash and dry the birds and rub the insides with salt. Then stuff lightly and truss. As these birds are so very small, they are apt to be dry, so place two half strips of bacon over each bird.

Roast uncovered in a moderate oven 1 to 1½ hours, depending on size, basting them frequently with melted butter and the drippings in pan. Allow 20 minutes longer roasting if frozen. Do not overcook.

The flavor of these birds is a bit gamy at times and when roasted the hens are best served with bread sauce as well as gravy. Wild currant jelly is a perfect partner.

Another trick is to brown the birds in butter, then place in a shallow casserole or baking dish. Rinse the pan in which it was browned with a little sherry, then pour this over the bird. Cook about 30 minutes or until done.

For dessert, any fine cheese, plus crackers, make a favorite choice—camembert, gruyere, Canadian cheddar, liederkranze. A bowl of walnuts—a bottle of sherry—a gourmet's choice.

WILD RICE STUFFING

For three birds wash and cook according to directions on package. ½ cup wild rice. Drain, sauté ¼ cup finely chopped onions in a little butter. Mix with the cooked rice and add three tblsp. chopped toasted almonds, ¼ tsp. each salt, thyme and marjoram.

CALLETTE GROUP

Named vice-president is Mrs. D. Ross. Secretary-treasurer is Mrs. M. Shephard and others are Mrs. N. Smirl, Miss G. MacKay, Mrs. H. Hamilton and Mrs. B. Marrs.

Sea Bread Adds Variety to Lunch

Filling lunch kits is a headache at the best of times and to provide variety for them requires plenty of ingenuity. With this problem in mind Sally went hunting round the food counters this week.

Bread can be very dull and looking for something a little different Sally found a delicious whole wheat loaf which has honey, malt and believe it or not... sea salt and sea greens. It sounds nutritious and tastes wonderful.

Two children who tasted it ate slice after slice, and not because they were hungry. This loaf costs 24 cents, there is another similar one which costs 21 cents, without some of the strange ingredients.

Jam is not usually anything to rave about unless it is home-made, and sometimes even that tastes sweet and not much else. One jar found in a Douglas Street store, called Cascade, is home-made, and a mixture of special berries and oh, does it taste good? It certainly does.

Youngsters love something to chew, tucked into the corner of their lunch kits. Dried prunes are popular with some children, and give them lots of iron at the same time. They should eat only a few prunes at a time or there will be some upset tummies.

Fruit balls, made from chopped dried fruits, are 25 cents a packet of six large mouthfuls. Packets of raisins are another source of good food value, and satisfying to sweet tooths. Six small boxes of raisins in a cellophane pack sell for the price of five separate ones.

Packets of nuts or a few shelled ones give extra protein. Pumpkin and sun flower seeds are full of calcium and make the nibbling habit harmless.

Chunks of "molasses chews" which are rather like soft toffee, and more nutritive than candy, sell at one cent each. Fig and date bars make a nice occasional treat, at 15 cents a time they are expensive for everyday use.

There is a harmless chewing gum around if junior really insists on that.

Rarely do you find that the cheapest of anything is the best. This phenomenon, certainly applies to liver. Pork liver which is always constiably less than beef, lamb, or calves and has greater food value. There is a drawback, pork liver can have a stronger taste than the other kinds. Buy it when it is a medium light color which shows that it is fresh and all will be well.

Pork kidneys are good too and are cheapest.

Good buys of local fish to vary your meals, are fillets or whiting at 45 cents a pound and sole at 60 cents.

Salmon around is good but expensive. There is no cod being caught just now.

In the vegetable world there is a local setback, as a disease has developed among potatoes which leaves small brown marks under the skin. This is quite harmless when eaten and in most cases will disappear altogether when the spuds are boiled or baked, but it will bring prices down, so the farmers had luck is the housewives fortune.

Winning Contract

We've been neglecting our book-reviewing role of late, so we'll devote a few columns to bringing you up-to-date on the newest in bridge literature. For example, there is now a complete book on the single subject of the squeeze play, written by a retired professor of mathematics from the University of Michigan, Clyde Love, (Bridge Squeezes Complete, 260 pages, $3.95, Sterling Publishing.) Mr. Love is the only writer ever to devote an entire volume to this complex subject, but this is not the first. He published another book on the squeeze play in 1951.

To most players there is no such thing as a "Simple Squeeze," the title of his first chapter in which today's deal is shown. Yet the lesson of this one is simple, as you'll see if you defend with the East hand.

Declarer wins your partner's opening heart lead with the queen and cashes the ace and king. You discard a spade. Next he leads to dummy's spade king and continues spades, cashing his ace and queen. Of course you keep your stopper in diamonds. But when you do, you let declarer make his contract. For, if you now look at the other hands you see that declarer has to bring home his club suit intact in order to make his grand slam. Now we see that the lesson is pointed at South.

Of course, when he is in dummy with the king of spades he could have cashed dummy's three top diamonds. But that would still leave him with a losing club—so those three tricks are virtually useless. The cards are worth far more as a threat against an opponent who may have both a diamond and a club stopper. If North's top diamonds are cashed, East has no difficulty in discarding on the third spade and by holding onto his four clubs he sets the grand slam.

As to South's bid—it could only be made by a player who was sure his partner never opened spades. But it had this great advantage. It left the defenders in the dark as to how to stop the grand slam.

Dog's Collar
Cost $60,000

LONDON (Reuters)—When night watchman Clarence Nightingale found a sparkling bracelet in a London park he thought it was worthless. His 15-year-old daughter wore it to school once or twice and sometimes it made a collar for the family dog. Tuesday Nightingale discovered the necklace was £20,000 worth of diamonds and emeralds. Police identified it as belonging to a wealthy London widow.

Garden Notes

Don't Get in a Rut

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

It seems to be the habit of many backyard gardeners to site their vegetable rows in exactly the same position every year. The tomato plants are down at the bottom of the garden where they won't shade the other plants. The third row from the house produced some wonderful heads of lettuce last year, so we'll grow our lettuce in the same row this year.

Actually, this isn't such a hot idea. For one thing, the soil tends to become "sick" of the same plants all the time, and the diseases and pests peculiar to that particular plant build up to epidemic proportions. It is difficult, too, to give each kind of vegetable the best manuring and fertilizing treatment when they stay in the same place year after year.

Some form of rotation is very much to be desired, and this is especially true when you can't get your hands on enough manure to dress the whole plot generously. You can get the most value out of a given quantity of manure by applying it heavily to one-third of the plot every year, so that at the end of a three-year period, the whole plot has been enriched.

This calls for a bit of planning in the placement of the rows. You can't grow carrots, for instance, on freshly manured soil, for they become forked and distorted and make a lot of hairy roots under these conditions.

For easier planning, let us divide the whole vegetable plot into three sub-plots, and call them A, B and C. Section A wins the toss and becomes the proud recipient of a big load of manure, dug in some time through the fall or winter. Sections B and C will have to settle for a dressing of chemical fertilizer such as Vigoro or Burns O.K. at the rate of three pounds per 100 square feet. This is just scattered on the surface of the dug-over ground at least two weeks before seed-sowing, and is raked in lightly.

Section A, with its heavy dressing of manure, will be used in 1960 to grow the manure-loving vegetables, which include onions, leeks, peas, beans, celery, tomatoes, spinach and lettuce. Section B, enriched only with fertilizer, will take the root crops—potatoes, carrots, beets and the like.

Section C, also dressed with fertilizer, had better have a sprinkle of lime, too—about two cupfuls of pulverized limestone per square yard.

This will be used for the various members of the cabbage family—cabbage, cauliflower, sprouts, kale and broccoli—for heavy liming helps keep the dreaded club root disease from getting a start.

In 1961, we play musical chairs with our three plots. Section A gets fertilizer only, but will have enough manure left in the soil to support the growth of the root crops, so the potatoes, carrots, etc., will go here. Section B, receiving fertilizer plus lime, will take the cabbage family, while section C, with its heavy dressing of manure, becomes the 1961 home of the onions, tomatoes and other manure-hungry subjects.

The third season completes the cycle, with the cabbage tribe occupying A, the manure-lovers on B, and the roots on C.

In this way, potatoes are always grown on soil where the lime content is at its lowest ebb, for lime makes for scabby spuds. Carrots are never forked from the effects of a too-recent manuring, while the lime-loving cabbage family revels in the high-lime portion of the plot. And over the three-year period, the whole plot has its humus content replenished by the dressings of manure.

The Viewing World

Towering Tour de Force

Art Carney has been television's most versatile performer all year. High comedy, low comedy, burlesque, fantasy, tragedy—he's done them all, done them all extremely well.

Saturday night, Carney pulled off a towering tour de force by occupying the screen for a full hour in a drama called "Call Me Back" (NBC-TV).

In brief, we saw a man enter his apartment, call his answering service which told him there are no calls. In the next hour, inevitably on the phone, the man's history unfolded. He was a drunk who had lost his wife, his job, his friends, his girl, and—at the end of the hour—his life. Tony Webster, who wrote it, has great talent and I hope he writes something else—something with maybe two or three or even four people in it.

Carney's progression from a clear-eyed sober citizen through a half-dozen phases of drunkenness to thick-tongued (but always comprehensible) drunken stupor was a model of sure-footed acting.

Jane Powell took over the Dinah Shore spot the other night and the result was one of the best musical shows I think I've ever seen. In the first place, I saw it in color and you simply haven't seen a Dinah Shore show until you've seen it in color. Little Miss Powell is a mighty cute bundle of talent and I have never seen her to better advantage—doing calypso dances, singing "Musetta's Waltz," clowning with Miyoshi Umeki and Taina Elg, doing duets with Craig Stevens and looking as if she's having a marvellous time.

And while we're on the subject of musical shows, Dean Martin, who has been slightly impossible on some of his shows, curbed his Rabelian exuberance to some degree on the last Starline show and it was pretty great, too.

Martin has great natural charm when he stops making like a slob. Singing "Birth of the Blues," clowning with Fabian, singing duets with Nanette Fabray, he was a very merry and skilled comedian. But, he's beginning to sound more like de Kingfish than the Kingfish sounded like himself and I can't think why.

Hollywood Today

By Sheilah Graham

This Is the Living End

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—This is the end. Producer Al Zucman has asked me to play the wife of Jackie Coogan, and the mother of Mamie Van Doren in his next statistical thriller-diller, "Confidential Report on Collins College." Steve Allen and his wife Jayne Meadows are co-starring with Mamie. To be the wife of Coogan "The Kid"—well, it would certainly be something different! "Send me the script," I told him.

Noel Coward has written 60,000 words of his new novel. He works from 9 a.m. to noon somewhere in the Swiss Alps.

And Richard Burton is in New York from his Swiss home for two TV shows: "The Citadel"—remember Robert Donat in the movie?—and "The Fifth Column," a Hemingway story. Television has brought Ernest another fortune.

Frankie Vaughan was lonely in Hollywood in spite of being signed to woo Marilyn Monroe in her current movie. So he sent for the wife and kids to join him from London. They're on their way.

Eddie Fisher negotiated a new deal in Las Vegas—three more years, eight weeks a year. But he can decide when to perform.

I see that Shelley Winters is reported as saying she would act for nothing. Just let someone try to sign Shelley for nothing!

Ingrid Bergman will be $500,000 richer by the end of 1960—from her two Paramount pictures in Europe: "A Child Is Waiting" and "The Stepmother." "And," adds Cary Grant, "there's a comedy in Ireland. We both play dual roles."

Ingrid's daughter, Jenny Ann Lindstrom, a tall, blonde beauty, has been granted rights to $12,500, put away for her over the years by her mother. Jenny Ann has no acting aspirations, although she almost yielded to the request to make a screen test when she was in Hollywood with Ingrid. "Just to see how you look," was the persuader. But Jenny Ann resisted.

Virginia Grey looked like a blonde Joan Crawford on the set of "Portrait in Black" working with Richard Basehart and John Saxon. To the question, "Where have you been?" Virginia replied, "I've been doing a lot of television. The nicest things happen in television. I did a show with Greer Garson, and, when it was over, she gave me the diamond and pearl earrings she had worn in the play."

Consistent couple at the Finch murder trial in Los Angeles are Gail Patrick and husband Cornwall Jackson—"getting local color for our 'Perry Mason' series," explained Gail, former actress and now producer, and co-owner with her husband and Raymond Burr of the show.

Frank Sinatra flies to Japan in March to unfreeze his frozen yen, and to give interviews for "Never So Few" and "Can-Can."

Mrs. Jack Wrather—you knew her better as Bonita Granville—had some fascinating news at a recent party, about Lassie, which her husband owns. "Lassie has her own ranch, her own flock of sheep, station wagon, fur coat, fur booties, and on Feb. 7 she will have her own Boy Scout patrol."

Alfred Hitchcock is on a rampage to lose weight. "I'm on a 600-calorie-a-day diet," the roly-poly director said while filming "Psycho." "But I cannot tolerate seeing anyone else eat." So he naps in his office suite during lunch, while slender stars Janet Leigh and Tony Perkins gorge in the commissary.

Formosa Notebook

Old Dragon Breathes Only Sparks

(This is another in a series on the embattled Chinese Nationalist island outpost of Formosa.)

TAIPEI Formosa (TNS)—Like an aging dragon, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is breathing sparks these days where he once belched fire and searing threats.

In his annual New Year's message, he told the people that 1960 would be the year the Communist regime on the mainland would begin to collapse.

But in 1959, he promised the same thing. In 10 previous New Year's messages, he more or less repeated himself, and next year he may well be saying it again.

He told me that his Nationalist army would be on the mainland fighting to free China within the next two years "at the latest."

Some of the Generalissimo's military men are becoming impatient. They are ready anytime to launch an offensive and resent the policy of only being allowed to retaliate.

There is little doubt who controls Formosa—and it isn't the Chinese.

The excellent Nationalist air force makes sorties over the mainland dropping propaganda and agents to spread dissension and to spy.

"We are losing planes, but remember we are at war," a Nationalist air force general said. But while the U.S. may wink at pamphlet dropping, it wouldn't tolerate bomb dropping.

Chiang is avidly anti-Communist, but his regime has things in common with the mainland.

Neither Formosa nor Red China is democratic; Chiang and the Communist leaders are supreme beings; both seek power and demand sacrifices for the cause; both regimes pay lip service to Sun Yat-sen as the founder of modern China.

To a visitor, it would seem a healthy thing if the 2,000,000 Chinese refugees would forget the mainland and call them-ably be far better off to stay on Formosa than return to China. This is one of the most prosperous little countries of Asia.

But Formosa is also a state of mind—a symbol of anti-Communism to the fence-sitting Asian countries, so the U.S. probably will sink more money than it did last year into Formosa to make a model project of the country. Formosa will show what can be done with U.S. aid.

Criticism of the old Chiang regime of the mainland do not hold true on Formosa today. The government is succeeding in raising the living standard.

But there is a strong undercurrent of resentment among the Chinese and islanders against the strong influence and control of United States, selves Formosans.

Fitness Is Easy

Regularity, Persistence Keep Them in Mind

By LLOYD PERCIVAL
(Fourth of a Series)

By now you should have established a pattern of regular exercise.

The main thing is: stick with it.

Purpose: To provide progressive exercise for the heart and respiratory system, stimulate general circulation, strengthen legs and tune up the whole organism.

Method: Keeping stomach well in, head erect, arms in normal running position, run in place. Run at a moderate tempo lifting the knees about six inches on each stride. This is not a sprint but an easy, mild pace.

Try to keep all your muscles as relaxed and loose as you can.

Don't tighten your jaw. To keep your jaw loose, rest the tip of your tongue against the back of the lower row of teeth. Run on the balls of your feet.

Five Seconds

Run for only 15 seconds the first few days. Add five seconds to your running time every three or four days.

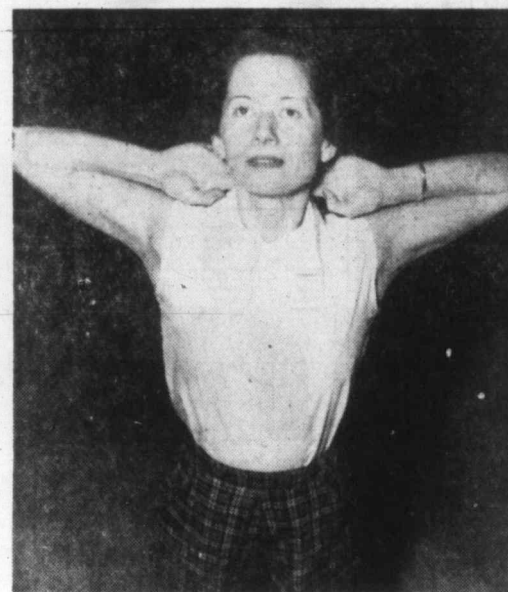

Continue to do this until you are able to run for two minutes without noticeable fatigue.

If, after you can handle the two minutes assignment without trouble, you wish to sustain your program, by all means do so but keep to the system of adding five seconds every three or four days. Build up gradually.

Purpose: This is to give all the muscles of your body a thorough stretching and general toning up. This exercise will help you sustain your flexibility, improve your circulation, sustain general ligament mobility and keep you limber and loose. It is a great aid in getting rid of kinks and muscle tension. It also is a mild and general muscle strengthener.

Lower Hips

Method: Take up a position as if you had just completed a push up. Lower your hips as close to the floor as you can. As you do this move your head up and back, trying your best to touch the back of your

Really stretch, trying to get your hips as low as you can. Your head as far back as you can. Hold this position, really stretching, for four or five seconds. Then reverse the movement—lift your buttocks as high as you can towards the ceiling—really get them up there—and at the same time, move your head down and in toward your chest, touching your chin to your chest. Pull your stomach in as far as you can.

Three Times

Hold this position really stretching for four or five seconds. Do this two movements three times. Every three or four days add one more section of the two movements until you are doing a total of 12 sections—that's 12 up, 12 down!

Method: Stand with your feet comfortably apart.

Move head as far back as you can, as if you were looking directly up at the stars.

Clasp your hands around the back of your head.

Keep Pressure

Pull your stomach in as far as you can, puff out your chest as far as possible and pull upward against your head, resisting this pulling by keeping your head in the held-back position.

Keep up the pressure for 10 seconds. Relax for five seconds and repeat.

Do three sections. Add one more section every three or four days until you are doing seven or eight sections.

Eat and Grow Younger

Starch for Breakfast Robs You of All Pep

By LELORD KORDEL
(Fourth of a Series)

Let me turn clairvoyant for a moment and "project" thoughts with you through an average day's eating.

Your breakfast consisted of a fruit—perhaps a canned juice (sweetened with white sugar), or half a grapefruit liberally sprinkled with sugar. Your cereal bowl was filled with a dry, wholly-artificial pile of something whose resemblance to a grain long since ceased to exist. And, of course, you reached again for the sugar bowl to flavor this already too-starchy meal.

Toast? Of course, and more likely made with white bread; or perhaps a sweet roll or two, well coated with sugar frosting, eaten with your generously sugared coffee.

"Please pass the jelly." More sweet. Some morning you do get around to eating an egg, but usually you're too full after downing your starchy cereal and toast to want anything more.

So off you go to work. You feel quite a bit less than up to 'par; but by now you're probably belching as all the breakfast starches begin fermenting

Time Out for Candy

By mid-morning you're feeling pretty peppy. So what do you do? If you're at work, you take time out for a candy bar, or a soft drink, or maybe more coffee and another sweet roll.

Then comes lunch. You're hungry—and yet you're not. How about a sandwich, a cup of coffee and a piece of pie?

That holds you until about 3.30, when you begin to feel so worn out and dispirited that you realize you'd better get something to eat if you want to keep going until dinner time. More pie, or maybe a piece of cake, a candy bar, or a soft drink.

By the time you drag yourself home and get through a dinner that is a repetition of all your day's dietary sins (white bread, sugared coffee, perhaps a dish with rice or spaghetti or macaroni, and a starchy heavy dessert) you are more convinced than ever that you're getting old.

I could go on and trace footsteps to the kitchen before bedtime for that piece of pie which was left, or for a sandwich, but you're entitled to some privacy in your dietary indiscretions.

If you are the average person, of sedentary habits or occupation, the chances are that you eat about 75 percent more devitalized carbohydrate foods than are compatible with your good health and your desire to feel and look younger.

Only Half Right

"But we must have carbohydrates for energy," you say. You are only half correct. While it's true that the sole function of carbohydrates is to provide heat and energy, what about the Eskimos who eat nothing except meat and fish—protein foods? Merely because they do not stuff themselves with artificial sugars and starches, must they be shivering lethargic beings?

The Eskimo, far from being a slothful fellow who huddles into his skins with his teeth chattering like castanets, is robust, energetic, and warm-blooded. In fact, it's only where "white" civilization has brought its so-called refinements that the Eskimo ever falls victim to our respiratory and intestinal diseases. Colds and constipation were the "benefits" of civilization which he bestowed upon the poor Eskimo.

How then, if the Eskimos in remote areas never eat anything except protein foods, can their bodies receive the fuel and energy which carbohydrates provide?

Every human body has been given the power to convert amino acids into either body proteins or energy sugars. Actually, the type of carbohydrate mostly produced in the body from food protein yields more heat and energy than any of the carbohydrate foods you eat.

Get Natural Sugars

You get natural sugars in every food you eat. Even the all-meat diet of the Eskimo and the Gaucho—neither of whom ever tasted refined sugar—contains about 15 percent natural sugars. Plants are nature's sugar manufacturers, and these energy sugars are passed on to the animals, fowl and sea life that feed upon them.

When you get enough proteins you need never worry about getting enough carbohydrates. Your big worry should be not to eat too much carbohydrates.

Protein is a complete food: that is, you could live long and vigorously on an exclusive diet of protein foods. This is not true of carbohydrates.

Not only do high-starch meals overload the stomach and place an unnecessary strain on the heart, they are many ailments and serious diseases that appear in later years.

Employers Given Driving Lesson

Third group of employers in as many days—pleaded guilty individually in city police court yesterday to hiring unlicensed chauffeurs—and had one licensing fact cleared up for them.

One employer said the youth working for him had a licence entitling him to drive passenger vehicles or half-ton trucks. He thought this cleared the employee to drive the firm's truck.

He was told it did not—not for hire.

Spoken for the motor vehicle bench confirmed that youths under 21 are licensed to drive passenger vehicles or light trucks, but only privately. If they are employed to drive, even on a part-time basis, they must have a special chauffeur's licence.

Fined $10 each yesterday were Raymond C. Garside of Garside Displays, 1409 Store; Ivings-Robertson Garage, 1420 Quadra; Lee Ye Chun of Lee's Chinese Food, 550 Fisgard.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dalton Trumbo, "blacklisted" in Hollywood for 13 years for refusing to testify about Communism in the movie industry, will return to full status as a screen writer under the sponsorship of producer-director Otto Preminger.

Preminger yesterday hired Trumbo to write the script for "Exodus," based on the best-selling novel by Leon Uris.

Trumbo was convicted in 1947, along with several other Hollywood writers, for contempt of Congress. Since then he and other "blacklisted" writers have written under assumed names, if they wrote at all.

TV Money Strike Cause

By LORNE GREENE
HOLLYWOOD (INS) — All screen writers have put down their pens, closed their inkwells and settled back to begin a do-or-die strike against the motion picture companies.

They want to participate in the sale to the television industry of all motion pictures made after 1948.

They want four per cent. If the movies sell for, say $10,000, they want $400. If it's $100,000, as in the case of some of the better features, they want $4,000. Some writers stand to gain as much as $75,000, if they can negotiate successfully.

What do the major studios say? They refuse even to discuss the subject of participation. They say they'd rather go out of business than give up any smallest particle of the equity. On Jan. 31, the writers are due to go out on strike against the television networks.

They want payment for foreign TV showings; payment in perpetuity for all TV scripts, such as Broadway writers get for their plays; an increase in the minimum payments of $1,100 for a half-hour script and $2,000 for an hour script; and an increase in their residual payments which are now 35 per cent of minimum, but for six showings only, after which they get nothing.

SECOND SURPRISE
Screen actors also have a little surprise up their sleeves. They also want to share in the sale of films to TV, and an increase in minimums from $90 a day or $300 a week for motion picture films and $80 a day or $285 a week for TV filming.

Smallwood Defends Suspect in Fraud

EDMONTON, Alta. (UPI) — Newfoundland Premier Joseph Smallwood last night vigorously defended the president of Canadian Javelin Ltd., John C. Doyle, charged with defrauding stockholders of $4,800,000. (See Page 14.)

"I suspect it is still another attempt to seize control of the great assets of Canadian Javelin by getting rid of the man who built up the company," the Liberal Premier said in an Edmonton address.

Central Pacific

Red Missile Off, Says U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—High United States military authorities said Wednesday night a Soviet missile had been fired into the central Pacific but it apparently missed its target by several hundred miles.

The base for the launching of the missile was believed to be in the vicinity of the Caspian Sea, near the southernmost boundary of the Soviet Union with Iran.

There was no further word on details of the firing. U.S. authorities, however, appeared satisfied the shot had been made and had deviated from its target by at least several hundred miles.

An official release from the defence department late Wednesday said only that Russia may have fired a huge test rocket across Eurasia and into the central Pacific—a distance of perhaps 8,000 miles.

Get Out of Cuba Spain Envoy Told

Republic Or Not?

CAPETOWN (Reuters)—South Africans will be asked in a referendum if they want their Commonwealth nation to become a republic, Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd announced yesterday.

'Make Room' Canada Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—Arthur Maloney (PC, Toronto-Parkdale) suggested Wednesday that Canada consider stepping up the flow of immigration.

In Throne Speech debate, he said that in view of the healthy state of the economy the time is ripe for taking a second look at the 1957 policy of reducing the number of immigrants admitted.

HAVANA, Thursday (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro ordered Spanish ambassador Juan Pablo Lojendio to leave Cuba within 24 hours when the ambassador disrupted Castro's marathon television speech early today, creating pandemonium in the TV studio.

Lojendio took offence at remarks Castro made about Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco, mounted the platform where Castro was speaking and demanded a chance to reply over the microphone to the charges.

Castro objected that the ambassador had no right to interrupt his speech which was devoted chiefly to an attack on the United States. He said no ambassador had the right to address a prime minister of Cuba in that manner.

Police, bodyguards, TV panelists and studio officials closed in on the Spanish envoy.

The studio audience burst into shouts and screams and the television screens blacked out although sound of the fracas was broadcast over the airwaves.

The incident started at 12.38 a.m. and Castro was back on the air by 12.45 a.m. The Cuban flag in the background was disarranged, indicating some sort of scuffle.

INSURED AIR CRASH 'VICTIM' ALIVE IN DEAD MAN'S CAR

Key Figure in Crash Mystery Caught

Once reported killed in an airliner crash, Dr. Robert Vernon Spears, left, was arrested by the FBI yesterday in Phoenix, Ariz., on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen car. An unidentified agent leads the Dallas doctor from FBI headquarters. —(AP Photofax.)

Ex-Convict Naturopath Tracked Down in Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Dr. Robert Spears, whose name was on the passenger list of an airliner that crashed in the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 16, was found in a Phoenix motel yesterday after a cross-country drive in the car owned by the man who is believed to have died in his place.

FBI agents tracked down the pudgy 64-year-old ex-convict and alleged abortionist, who had taken out heavy life insurance in his young wife's name before the ill-fated National Airlines DC-7 took off from Tampa for New Orleans. All 42 persons aboard died.

After questioning Spears, the FBI arrested him on a technical charge of transporting the car belonging to William Allen Taylor, missing 58-year-old Tampa salesman.

WAIVED HEARING

He was arraigned late yesterday afternoon before U.S. Commissioner Carrie B. Wilson in a 10-minute proceeding. He waived preliminary hearing and his bail was set at $35,000.

"I doubt if I could post the bail if you knocked $30,000 off it," the white-haired, bespectacled Spears, a naturopath, said.

He admitted the car was stolen and that he had driven it from Dallas without permission. But when he was asked by U.S. Attorney Jack D. Hays if he had ever been convicted of a felony, he said:

"I don't think I want to answer that. I have waived this hearing and I don't want to discuss anything like that."

LIGHT TAN COAT

Handcuffed and attired in a light tan overcoat, the heavily built Spears appeared nervous when brought before the commissioner. And when he was led off to jail he tried to hide his face from photographers with a cap.

Taylor's estranged wife had raised the possibility that Spears hypnotized Taylor into taking his place on the plane.

NEARLY FAINTED

In Dallas, Mrs. Spears nearly fainted when informed her husband was alive.

"I'm numb," she said. "I don't know what to say."

The FBI told an official Civil Aeronautics Board hearing into the crash last Saturday that Spears might have had someone travel for him to collect a $100,000 special flight insurance policy.

GEORGE RHODES

Spears was listed as George Rhodes at the motel where he was seized. He has a criminal record extending back 43 years.

The already fantastic developments in the investigation of the plane crash became more fantastic with the arrest of Spears. On Monday, he was linked with the key mystery man in another National Airlines crash, and FBI agents hoped to determine what their relationship was.

Donald Loomis, 50, co-defendant with Spears on an abortion charge in Los Angeles, told authorities there that Spears' attorney was Julian Andrew Frank, 32-year-old lawyer who died in the crash of a National Airlines DC-6B Jan. 6, in which 33 other persons also were killed.

Death Penalty Hit Two Ways

OTTAWA (CP)—A two-pronged attack against capital punishment is being made at the new session of Parliament.

Senator David Cross (L-Ontario) introduced a bill in the Senate Wednesday to abolish the death penalty except in some cases of treason. An identical bill was proposed in the Commons Monday by Frank McGee (PC-York-Scarborough).

"Either they the Commons do it or we do it," Senator Croll said.

Senator Croll said he plans to let his bill stand on the order paper until the Commons disposes of Mr. McGee's bill. If the Commons voted to abolish capital punishment, he would withdraw his bill.

Both the Liberal and CCF parties favor a free Commons vote on Mr. McGee's measure, with members voting from conscience and not along party lines. There has been speculation the government may permit the bill to come to a vote, but Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the House Monday no consideration has been given as yet to that question.

Private members' bills normally have little chance of coming to a vote unless the government wants one.

Since the Progressive Conservatives were elected in June, 1957, the cabinet has allowed only seven hangings. Of 38 death sentences, 31 have been commuted to life imprisonment.

Reds Warned Before Suez Eden Says

LONDON (CP)—Sir Anthony Eden Wednesday disclosed that before the 1956 Suez crisis he personally warned the rulers of Soviet Russia that Britain would fight to defend her Middle East oil interests. (See also Page 5.) He said his warning compelled the Soviets carefully to keep their hands off Britain's prized oil investments.

Sevigny Corrects Remarks

OTTAWA (UPI)—Associate Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny said yesterday the size of Canada's defence budget was not determined by mutual consent at the council table of NATO.

Sevigny, who was brought into the cabinet six months ago, was commenting on answers he had given on a nationally televised press conference last night.

He conceded that at first he had left the impression the $1,700,000,000 defence budget was determined by NATO.

are among the goals of a major telephone company.

R. A. Franzer, staff supervisor of the Bell system's South Dakota plant in Sioux Falls, told the academic year science institute at the University of South Dakota these are prime goals of researchers.

Franzer said the television-telephone watch would be the "very ultimate" device. It would be given to each child at birth and would stay with him through life.

He said it is hoped a system can be developed whereby anyone can call directly anywhere in the United States and talk for any length of time for 25 cents.

Behind the Teenage Curtain

Smut Ring Photographers Operating in Victoria

This is the first of a series of articles on the mounting problem of juvenile delinquency in Greater Victoria. The articles will be frank discussions of the problems, including working mothers, junior high schools, teenage sex, young drivers and delinquent parents.

Police in Greater Victoria are investigating a syndicate

which is persuading teenage girls to pose in the nude and is then distributing the pictures to the smut market of the United States.

High school and college girls ranging in age from 14

to 19 are involved. Some are daughters of well-known Victoria families.

It is understood well-proportioned girls of tender age are persuaded to pose in the nude, with the idea the pictures will be shipped to remote parts of the United States and the girls will receive a royalty on the pictures sold.

Some of the pictures, it is reliably reported, are indecent. The girls, most of them in Grades 11 and 12 at city high schools and in Victoria University, are virtually selling their decency.

Police expect to make arrests soon, but the full story may never get in the newspapers because it involves juveniles and they are protected from publicity by law.

But it is a story that every parent should know about. How else are they to be warned to protect their children?

Saanich Police Chief Bert Pearson reports that from time to time there is quite a wave in the Greater Victoria area of young girls posing in the nude.

Ex-Champ Urges:

Back Sports In Budget For Duncan

NORTH COWICHAN—Coun. Tony Staples, former B.C. tennis champ, told council yesterday that next month he will propose that money be budgeted to help form a group to foster sports.

Gem Job Cases Turn Up

NANAIMO—The first clue in the $15,000 diamond robbery at Peoples Credit Jewellers was turned up yesterday by two Nanaimo boys.

The youngsters discovered empty jewelry cases and cheques and money orders made payable to the jewelry firm on the highway a mile north of the Nanaimo River Bridge.

A suitcase which was used to carry away the loot was found at the CPR terminal. Police have asked persons who can identify any of the following safecracking implements to call the officer in charge, Nanaimo RCMP detachment immediately.

Single-bitted axe size 3½, stamped "Western Germans" in grease pencil; new four-pound sledgehammer stamped "Locksack" British made; new screwdriver stamped "Mayhew—Pressure Grip 1510-10"; new 16-inch screwdriver stamped Stanley—20; Genuine Hurwood; new three-foot gooseneck wrecking bar.

Sports Club Seeks $4,000 in Damages

CHEMAINUS—Cheminus Rod and Gun Club members have approved a move to claim damages of more than $4,000 done last summer to floats and boats in the harbor.

It is claimed they were damaged when a Straits Towing barge capsized while being filled with slag for La Farge Cement Co.

"It happened last June and there has been no settlement yet. Many boat owners missed fishing last summer, and unless there is a settlement reached soon, they will miss this year, too," said club member Al Dyer.

Another Magistrate Requested by Driver

DUNCAN—A city man who was charged with careless driving yesterday has asked that his case be heard by a magistrate other than Magistrate A. C. Sutton.

Allan Lloyd Stevenson was told he will have to "show cause" and make an application that the case be waived to another court.

Trial is scheduled for Feb. 4 before Magistrate Sutton who has not been sitting because of illness. Police said he is expected back next Monday.

Magistrate W. H. Bryant of Ladysmith read the charge but no plea was taken so he would not have to return to hear it. Stevenson indicated he will plead not guilty. Police say he drove without due care and attention Jan. 2 on Government Street.

Hunters 'Re-Hunt' Deer in Dump

Record Load Rides Rails From Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Probably the largest single rail-borne consignment of lumber and other forest products ever to leave the Alberni Valley went out on the E & N Railway during the weekend behind a double diesel unit brought from the east coast of the Island.

Forty carloads and five empties were in the train drawn by the huge double engine. The local yard engine was used as a pusher to help the train up the mountain.

Board to Hear Bid by Dobson

DUNCAN—Mayor Jack Dobson is scheduled to appear before the Board of Broadcast Governors this morning.

The president of Cowichan and Gulf Islands Broadcasting Co. will ask for a licence to operate a radio station in Duncan.

He said that the "comparison is pretty poor" and a little "depressing" when he thinks of the sports now and what he had been able to take part in during the 1930s.

"I think that in some ways this is one of the most progressive ideas that has been presented to this council," commented Reeve Donald Morton.

EXUBERANCE

"Quite a bit of what we call vandalism is only exuberance that would find an outlet in sports," said the councillor.

Coun. Staples said he will propose "at a later date" that a minimum of $3,000—that's not very much, about one-ninth of a mill—be budgeted this year for expenses.

Groups and private individuals with whom Coun. Staples had discussed the move since last May have agreed with it. They felt it was needed particularly in junior sports.

ANY OBSTACLES

Any obstacles standing in the way, commented Coun. Staples, could be solved at a meeting of representatives from all areas in the Cowichan district.

Coun. Staples said that among other changes he has noticed that the lacrosse box is dilapidated, and that golf courses and playing fields have been made into subdivisions.

Towed Behind Boat

Navy Divers Hunt Jet

Six Esquimalt-based navy divers are due in Comox early today to begin an underwater search for wreckage of a CF-100 jet interceptor that plunged into the sea east of the Island air base.

To cover a large area during the hunt, the divers will be towed on the end of a 300-foot line, scouting the depths behind a hand-controlled planing-board.

Decision to call in the divers was made after two days of dragging the bottom of Georgia Strait at what is believed to be the crash site.

failed to turn up any wreckage.

An RCAF spokesman at Comox, however, indicated that dragging would continue today.

The RCAF's interceptor crashed early Tuesday after crossing the air base at the end of a routine flight. Missing and believed dead are the pilot, FO Brian Shaw, and navigator, FO Gordon Davis.

In charge of the navy diving team is Lt.-Cmdr. Frank Bayfield-Davis.

The divers, using self-contained underwater breathing apparatus, are Petty Officers George Ackerman and Julian Verschure and Able Seamen Ronald MacKenzie, John Zabor, Ernie Maddams and Ivan Sherlock.

In Esquimalt, the navy said it was believed to be the first time the towing system of underwater search has been used outside of training exercises by the men.

Under ideal conditions, the navy said, the divers can go down to a maximum depth of 120 feet, indicating that the jet is in water not much deeper than that. This conflicts with air force reports that the plane may be sitting in about 400 feet of water.

The navy said the divers, probably operating singly, will be towed behind a small craft at about five knots, maximum speed that gives the diver manoeuvrability with his planing-board.

Job of the divers is to pinpoint the wreckage so that a salvage vessel might be able to bring it to the surface.

Dragging, which started Tuesday, continued at the place where a piece of a pilot's helmet was found.

Adults 'Chicken Out' Miss Point on Polio

LADYSMITH—An estimated 50 per cent of adults due for a new round of polio shots failed to turn up at a clinic held in Ladysmith Monday, district health nurse Miss E. Wolf reported.

Adults who "chickened out" may get their shots at a later date, but possibly only by appointment.

Grave Ready on Time

Apology Asked By Caretaker

NORTH COWICHAN—H. W. Hepburn, caretaker of Chemainus cemetery, has demanded an apology from North Cowichan Coun. Gerald Smith who stated at the council's last meeting that a grave was not ready in time for a funeral.

DIRT FELL IN

In a letter to council, Mr. Hepburn said the grave in question was dug the day prior to the funeral but that during the night some dirt fell in.

The dirt was cleared out 15 minutes before the time the funeral procession was due to arrive.

ON HOLIDAY

Coun. Smith is away on his annual holiday.

Council dropped the matter after Coun. Tony Staples called it an "unfortunate incident."

Cassidair Bid Backed

NORTH COWICHAN—Council has thrown its weight behind an application for a daily air passenger service between Vancouver and Cassidair airport. It is backing an application to the Air Transport Board by Cassidair Services Ltd., operators of the airport eight miles south of Nanaimo.

The company's letter said they plan to use six-passenger, twin-engine Aero Commanders that would take from 10 to 15 minutes a crossing.

Second jail sentence of the day—six months—was handed

Logger Sentenced For Theft Attempt

DUNCAN—A 20-year-old Westholme logger was sentenced to nine months in Oakalla yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted theft of a car.

Gasper Jimmy was seen in a beer parlor waiter's car and then caught after a short chase by a friend of the car-owner. Police said in court that his record showed five thefts—two cars—and assault and robbery convictions.

Second jail sentence of the day—six months—was handed to unemployed mill worker Francis Norris, 19, also of Westholme.

He was sentenced when he pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the West Coast Freight Ltd. shed and stealing $12.50 last April 21.

Fingerprints taken at the time were matched with those taken at Nanaimo recently when Norris was convicted with three others of stealing boxes of apples. He was sentenced to jail for 30 days at that time.

'War' Unlikely to Spread

No 30.9-Cent Gasoline Here

Victoria motorists are going to have to travel to Vancouver if they want to fill their tanks with 30.9-cent-per-gallon gasoline, oil company officials predicted here yesterday.

They said that a Vancouver price-war which has forced gasoline as low as 30.9 cents at one independent filling station 33.9 cents at others, and 35.9 cents at "brand-name" stations is not likely to spread to Victoria.

One spokesman said that the Vancouver situation is caused by gasoline being brought into the mainland city by tank-truck from the U.S., thus avoiding a freight differential.

He said the same situation could hardly take place here because loaded tank-trucks cannot be carried on ferries with passengers and passenger cars.

"A company would pretty well have to start its own barge service and that is almost out of the question," he said.

It could only come about, he added, "if there was a refinery down around Seattle with heavy commitments for fuel oil and, as a result, with gasoline coming out its ears."

Mount Douglas

Want a Park? Saanich Asked

Source Of Plan Mystery

Saanich council was asked yesterday to discuss whether or not the municipality would like to take over city-owned Mount Douglas Park.

Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee made the request, after hearing a report from City Solicitor T. P. O'Grady that it would be advisable to seek provincial legislation to permit the transfer if it was desired.

SUGGESTION OBSCURE

Where the suggestion came from in the first place, no one seems to recall.

"It's never been discussed in our council," said Saanich Coun. George Austin.

The committee also:

• Approved April 16 as official opening date for the dressing rooms provided by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Elk Lake.

• Voted to seek $15,000 this year from Victoria and Saanich. Last year the same amount was requested, and Saanich council was prepared to contribute its $5,000 share. But city council cut its $10,000 to $8,000, so Saanich contributed $4,000.

• Approved spending $750 on clearing of underbrush in Mount Douglas Park.

S. J. Willis Site Issue

Anti-'Trespass' Arguments Don't Impress Scurrah

Mayor Percy Scurrah doesn't think much of the arguments of spokesmen for the other Greater Victoria municipalities against the school board buying from the city the S. J. Willis school property on which it is "trespassing."

So he indicated yesterday in reviewing the arguments.

Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay said his municipality holds title to the sites of Wilcox, Monterey and Oak Bay High schools and should be able to collect from Victoria if Victoria collects from Oak Bay.

But these schools were built before the Greater Victoria school board was formed. Mayor Scurrah said, and there was no requirement that the board acquire the sites. The S. J. Willis school was built on city property after formation of the Greater Victoria board, and the board was required by law to acquire title before building it.

Deputy Reeve George Austin of Saanich said it wouldn't be "fair" of Victoria to try to get part of the cost of the S. J. Willis site from Saanich.

MOST IN SAANICH

Most of the schools to be built in Greater Victoria in the next 20 years will be in Saanich, Mayor Scurrah answered. "Thirteen or 14 of them, toward which Victoria taxpayers will be paying a considerable portion."

And Coun. G. K. Sammon, of Esquimalt, called it unfair of Victoria to try to collect the 1949 market value of the property. Esquimalt, he said, has had a practice of selling school sites for assessed value, not market value, and recently sold a school site worth $40,000 to $50,000 for $5,000.

"We sold the Macdonald Park school site for $1," said Mayor Scurrah. "That's a matter of policy of Esquimalt's own council, and nothing to do with the case."

Along Northeast Edge

Scurrah Will Back Thetis Power Line

Mayor Percy Scurrah will support allowing the B.C. Electric to run a power line along the northeastern edge of Thetis Lake Park, he said yesterday.

He said city council "is just as conscious of the need to preserve parks around the city" as any conservationists are, but:

Four big parks form a "green belt" within 15 minutes of the city.

on "the extreme edge of a part of Thetis Lake that is inaccessible and not used by the public."

The company could move the power line just across the boundary, so "what difference does it make to the bird and bees and wildlife that there are a row of steel poles down the extreme outer edge of the property?"

The $5,200 price will give the city much-needed money to spend on development of recreational facilities in the park area now in use.

Spark-Set Sawmill Fire Causes Minor Damage

Only slight damage was caused during the noon hour yesterday when sparks from a waste burner set fire to the understructure of a green chain at Moore-Whittington Co. Ltd., 2614 Bridge, sawmill division.

The fire was quickly controlled by city firemen, and as they worked a second alarm fire sent fire trucks racing to St. Ann's Academy. This proved to be a false alarm.

Ship Grounds On Sand Bar

A Navy auxiliary vessel went aground on a sand bar in Nanossee Bay, between Nanaimo and Parksville, yesterday afternoon but was not damaged.

The CNAV Songhee, based at Patricia Bay, ran aground at 1:30 p.m. The CNAV tug Heatherston was dispatched on a stand-by basis, but the Songhee reports it should be free of the bar by 9 a.m. today.

Oak Bay Clinic Monthly

A baby clinic, to be held once a month at St. Philip's Church, will be put into operation Wednesday by the Oak Bay health department.

Offering free inoculations for diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio, and free smallpox vaccination, the clinic will be open from 2 to 4 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

Two public health nurses and voluntary assistants will run the clinic, which will also provide information for parents on better health for their children.

Two Miles of Road

Sidney-Swartz Bay Tenders to Be Called

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said yesterday tenders for a two-mile stretch of new road from Sidney to Swartz Bay will be called on Friday.

The new road will eliminate the existing curves and follow a route back of Sandown race-track and back of McDonald provincial park to the Swartz Bay road and the new government ferry terminal which will be immediately west of the existing wharf used by the Gulf Islands ferries.

Mr. Gagliardi said tenders for the new $400,000 wharf and building will be called in about six weeks.

Mr. Gagliardi explained that the new road will not affect the road into Sidney and would not interfere with any plans to re-route the Patricia Bay Highway if the federal government ever decides to lengthen the airport runways.

Veterans' Chief In City Today

James McGivern of Vancouver, Dominion president of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association, will present life memberships to five members of the Victoria branch at the annual meeting at 8 p.m. today in the association hall, 1001 Wharf Street.

ERRINGTON—Tenny-Ann Campbell and Diane Plesance were selected by the judges for first and second places in the talent contest at Errington School this week. They will enter the finals at Coombs Feb. 13, when successful contestants from Qualicum School District areas will compete in the Mt. Arrowsmith P.T.A. council sponsored contest.

Underground Work on Schedule

Work on the city's underground wiring project is proceeding on schedule, according to officials of B.C. Electric Co., and the digging of

Nanaimo Fair 'On' for 1960

NANAIMO — The Vancouver Island Exhibition for 1960 is "on".

Exhibition association directors, in spite of a debt of $60,000, have already prepared the women's division prize list and the annual fair will be staged as usual.

Association president Frank Wilbert resigned his post following a move to the mainland. Richard Winkelman, secretary, will continue for a further year.

Members elected the following directors who will later choose a new president: Stan Dakin, Ed MacCleod, Mrs. S. Deno, Laurie Patten, Eric Stafford, Les Mottishaw, Duncan Turner and Cyril Edgington.

DUNCAN — George M. Anderson of Nanaimo was fined $15 for speeding in the 50 m.p.h. "buffer zone" south of town when he appeared in court yesterday.

Police said he was stopped Tuesday after he passed a car on the narrow Koksilah Bridge in an area that is protected by a double solid centre line. Anderson pleaded guilty.

CHEMAINUS — Mrs. Ivan Dobbins of Duncan, Red Cross representative for this area, was guest at the annual meeting in the United Church hall.

Committee reports showed 406 pints of blood donated at the two clinics of 1959, with additional 17 pints by donors direct to hospital.

Campaign collection totalled $1,573.88.

Officers elected were: R. N. Dick, president; J. E. Hess, secretary; treasurer, Mrs. Florence Saunders; campaign chairman, J. Russell Sadd.

Red Missile Off, Says U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—High United States military authorities said Wednesday night a Soviet missile had been fired into the central Pacific but it apparently missed its target by several hundred miles.

The base for the launching of the missile was believed to be in the vicinity of the Caspian Sea, near the southern-

There was no further word on details of the firing. U.S. authorities, however, appeared satisfied the shot had been made and had deviated from its target by at least several hundred miles.

An official release from the defence department late Wednesday said only that Russia may have fired a huge test rocket across Eurasia and into the central Pacific—a distance of perhaps 8,000 miles.

Get Out of Cuba Spain Envoy Told

CAPETOWN (Reuters)—South Africans will be asked in a referendum if they want their Commonwealth nation to become a republic, Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd announced yesterday.

Plane Burns, 38 Perish

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI)—A Colombian Avianca Airlines plane with 45 persons aboard crashed and burst into flames today as it came in for a landing. First reports said 38 persons were killed and seven survived.

The plane was en route from Miami when it swerved and crashed within sight of the airport. A crowd waiting at the airport saw a blinding crash and heard the screams of the survivors at the plane disintegrating.

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro ordered Spanish ambassador Juan Pablo Lojendio to leave Cuba within 24 hours when the ambassador disrupted Castro's marathon television speech early today, creating pandemonium in the TV studio.

Lojendio took offence at remarks Castro made about Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco, mounted the platform where Castro was speaking and demanded a chance to reply over the microphone to the charges.

Castro objected that the ambassador had no right to interrupt his speech which was devoted chiefly to an attack on the United States. He said no ambassador had the right to address a prime minister of Cuba in that manner.

Police, bodyguards, TV panelists and studio officials closed in on the Spanish envoy.

The studio audience burst into shouts and screams and the television screens blacked out although sound of the fracas was broadcast over the airwaves.

The incident started at 12.38 a.m. and Castro was back on the air by 1.45 a.m. The Cuban flag in the background was disarranged, indicating some sort of scuffle.

Key Figure in Crash Mystery Caught

Schultz Case Manslaughter

VANCOUVER (CP)—Raymond Schultz, 32, was found guilty of manslaughter Wednesday in the shooting death of his wife Lois and was remanded for sentence.

The assize court jury returned its verdict after 5½ hours deliberation. Last month a jury failed to agree and a new trial was ordered.

VERMILLION, S.D. (AP)—A "Dick Tracy" type television-telephone wrist watch and direct dialing to any place in the United States for 25 cents are among the goals of a major telephone company.

R. A. Franzer, staff supervisor of the Bell system's South Dakota plant in Sioux Falls, told the academic year science institute at the University of South Dakota these are prime goals of researchers.

Franzer said the television-telephone watch would be the "very ultimate" device. It would be given to each child at birth and would stay with him through life.

Sevigny Corrects Remarks

OTTAWA (UPI)—Associate Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny said yesterday the size of Canada's defence budget was not determined by mutual consent at the council table of NATO.

Sevigny, who was brought into the cabinet six months ago, was commenting on answers he had given on a nationally televised press conference last night.

He conceded that at first he had left the impression the $1,700,000,000 defence budget was determined by NATO.

FBI Tracks Down Pudgy Ex-Convict

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Dr. Robert Spears, whose name was on the passenger list of an airliner that crashed in the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 16, was found in a Phoenix motel yesterday after a cross-country drive in the car owned by the man who is believed to have died in his place.

FBI agents tracked down the pudgy 64-year-old ex-convict and alleged abortionist, who had taken out heavy life insurance in his young wife's name before the ill-fated National Airlines DC-7 took off from Tampa for New Orleans. All 42 persons aboard died.

After questioning Spears, the FBI arrested him on a technical charge of transporting the car belonging to William Allen Taylor, missing 58-year-old Tampa salesman.

He was arraigned late yesterday afternoon before U.S. Commissioner Carrie B. Wilson in a 10-minute proceeding. He waived preliminary hearing and his bail was set at $35,000.

"I doubt if I could post the bail if you knocked $30,000 off it," the white-haired, bespectacled Spears, a naturopath, said.

He admitted the car was stolen and that he had driven it from Dallas without permission. But when he was asked by U.S. Attorney Jack D. Hays if he had ever been convicted of a felony, he said:

"I don't think I want to answer that. I have waived this hearing and I don't want to discuss anything like that."

LIGHT TAN COAT

Handcuffed and attired in a light tan overcoat, the heavily built Spears appeared nervous when brought before the commissioner. And when he was led off to jail he tried to hide his face from photographers with a cap.

Taylor's estranged wife had raised the possibility that Spears hypnotized Taylor into taking his place on the plane.

For some unexplained reason, Taylor took out $37,000 in airline flight insurance, in behalf of his teenage son, nine minutes before the plane took off. Yet his name was not on the manifest.

In Dallas, Mrs. Spears nearly fainted when informed her husband was alive.

"I'm numb," she said. "I don't know what to say."

The FBI told an official Civil Aeronautics Board hearing into the crash last Saturday that Spears might have had someone travel for him to collect a $100,000 special flight insurance policy.

Spears was listed as George Rhodes at the motel where he was seized. He has a criminal record extending back 43 years.

MORE FANTASTIC

The already fantastic developments in the investigation of the plane crash became more fantastic with the arrest of Spears. On Monday, he was linked with the key mystery man in another National Airlines crash, and FBI agents hoped to determine what their relationship was.

Donald Loomis, 50, co-defendant with Spears on an abortion charge in Los Angeles, told authorities there that Spears' attorney was Julian Andrew Frank, 32-year-old lawyer who died in the crash of a National Airlines DC-6B Jan. 6, in which 33 other persons also were killed.

Death Penalty Hit Two Ways

OTTAWA (CP)—A two-pronged attack against capital punishment is being made at the new session of Parliament.

Senator David Croll (L. Ontario) introduced a bill in the Senate Wednesday to abolish the death penalty except in some cases of treason. An identical bill was proposed in the Commons Monday by Frank McGee (PC, York-Scarborough).

"Either they (the Commons) do it or we do it," Senator Croll said.

Senator Croll said he plans to let his bill stand on the order paper until the Commons disposes of Mr. McGee's bill. If the Commons voted to abolish capital punishment, he would withdraw his bill.

Both the Liberal and CCF parties favor a free Commons vote on Mr. McGee's measure, with members voting from conscience and not along party lines. There has been speculation the government may permit the bill to come to a vote, but Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the House Monday no consideration has been given as yet to that question.

Private members' bills normally have little chance of coming to a vote unless the government wants one.

Since the Progressive Conservatives were elected in June, 1957, the cabinet has allowed only seven hangings. Of 38 death sentences, 31 have been committed to life imprisonment.

Reds Warned Before Suez Eden Says

LONDON (CP)—Sir Anthony Eden Wednesday disclosed that before the 1956 Suez crisis he personally warned the rulers of Soviet Russia that Britain would fight to defend her Middle East oil interests. (See also Page 5.) He said his warning compelled the Soviets carefully to keep their hands off Britain's prized oil investments.

Behind the Teenage Curtain

Smut Ring Photographers Operating in Victoria

This is the first of a series of articles on the mounting problem of juvenile delinquency in Greater Victoria. The articles will be frank discussions of the problem, including working mothers, junior high schools, teen-age sex, young drivers and delinquent parents.

Police in Greater Victoria are investigating a syndicate

which is persuading teenage girls to pose in the nude and is then distributing the pictures to the smut market of the United States.

High school and college girls ranging in age from 14

to 19 are involved. Some are daughters of well-known Victoria families.

It is understood well-proportioned girls of tender age are persuaded to pose in the nude with the idea the pictures will be shipped to remote parts of the United States and the girls will receive a royalty on the pictures sold.

Some of the pictures, it is reliably reported, are indecent. The girls, most of them in Grades 11 and 12 at city-high schools and in Victoria University, are virtually selling their decency.

Police expect to make arrests soon, but the full story may never get in the newspapers because it involves juveniles and they are protected from publicity by law. But it is a story that every parent should know about. How else are they to be warned to protect their children?

Saanich Police Chief Bert Pearson reports that from time to time there is quite a wave in the Greater Victoria area of young girls posing in the nude.
